LOOKS DECEIVE

This 'sweet-looking, smooth-talking little lady,' aged 71, Mrs. Betty Caroline Taylor, looks anything like a description applied to her Monday by a Los Angeles detective—"one of the major dealers in narcotics on the Pacific Coast." Chou Snubs Russians—Flies Home

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Soviet leaders were faced today with a new snub from Communist China following the sudden departure for home of Chinese Premier Chou En-lai.

Observers saw Chou's abrupt departure from the Soviet party congress here as a sign of a worsening quarrel between the two countries over bitter Russian attacks on tiny Albania for following "Stalinist" policies.

Chou rebuked the Soviet leaders last week for bringing their quarrel with Albania into the open and told them that disputes between Communist countries should be settled in private.

Despite the rebuke and the new snub Monday, Chou was seen off at the airport Monday night by Premier Khrushchev and other top Soviet officials.

No reason was given for his sudden departure. Chou arrived back in Peking this morning and was greeted at the airport by Communist party chief Mao Tse-tung and by the Chinese head of state, Liu Shao-chi.

Rioting in Peru

LIMA, Peru (AP)—The government of President Manuel Prado today suspended constitutional guarantees for 30 days following a riot Monday night in front of the Congress building in which one man was killed and three hurt.

SAM'S STRIP STARTS ON PAGE 20 TODAY

Times readers this week are introduced to a new comic strip.

Created by Mort Walker and Jerry Dumas it began in Monday night's issue—well, it didn't actually begin, but it started with a suggestion that something was coming. The new comic is entitled "Sam's Strip" and about the only thing to do is bear with it and find out how it turns out. Today's strip is on Page 20.

World Protests Reds' Big Blast

Anger, Not Fear Chief Reaction

LONDON (CP)—Protests and demonstrations spread throughout the non-Communist world today against Soviet detonation of a giant hydrogen bomb.

Government leaders, scientists and newspapers, especially in Western Europe and Japan, expressed shock and horror at the 30-to-50-megaton blast set off in the Arctic Monday.

India's Prime Minister Nehru said he was "deeply pained and shocked."

The Russian people themselves were unaware of the blast, not reported either by the Soviet government or press.

In Italy, tens of thousands of high school and university students marched out of classes and paraded through streets in a dozen cities in protest against the Soviet blast.

But British Defence Minister Harold Watkinson said preliminary evidence from the huge Soviet blast and its accompanying smaller one "suggests a yield of the order of 30 megatons."

There has been no word from Russia on the explosion.

The massive blast, triggered Monday in the atmosphere over the Novaya Zemlya region in the Arctic, may have been the 50-megaton explosion that Soviet Premier Khrushchev announced the Russians would test.

They said the fallout was carried on winds blowing south to southeast over Russia.

The Soviet Union is getting a backfire of radioactive fallout today from its mammoth nuclear explosion, U.S. weather bureau scientists reported.

Since it was likely the bomb was fired high in the atmosphere, List said only a small fraction of the fallout would sift down immediately.

The greater portion of it would be sucked into the stratosphere and would come down perhaps next spring, he said.

But considering the size of blast, said List, the amount of radioactive debris blowing over Russia would be appreciable.

Nobel prize-winning chemist Dr. Harold C. Urey said in a New York television interview that the fallout will be "unpleasant but not critical—not at all." He did not elaborate.

The Soviet Union Monday also fired an underwater nuclear blast of low yield about two hours after the big explosion in the atmosphere.

though the countries that sponsored it no longer sought priority for its discussion.

The Canadian delegate said the appeal to Khrushchev should be approved immediately, but he made no formal move for priority.

He said the people of the world will expect the UN "to stop this senseless explosion and its pollution of the food we eat and the air we breathe."

Indian delegate B. N. Chakravarty asked for priority for an Indian-sponsored proposal calling for a general moratorium on all nuclear testing.

By limiting its appeal to the 50-megaton test, he said, "the committee will be sanctioning tests of smaller range."

TENSION HIGH

Tear-Gas Battle In Berlin

BERLIN (Reuters)—Tension increased along the border between East and West Berlin today following repeated bursts of gunfire during the night and a tear-gas battle between Communist and West Berlin police.

Repeated shooting was heard during the night in the border areas, particularly those between the French sector and East Berlin.

West Berlin police, newly armed with automatic weapons and tear-gas grenades, used the grenades for the first time Monday night when the East Germans hurled five tear gas bombs at a West Berlin loudspeaker truck, smashing its windshield. The West Berlin police hurled six tear gas grenades at the Communists.

The clash came as the Communist East German government announced new restrictions on the border to clinch its authority over all civilian traffic between East and West Berlin.

Must show passes. The restrictions require all foreigners entering East Berlin in civilian clothes to show passes, proving their identity.

Despite the announcement Western officials were allowed to drive into East Berlin Monday without any special identification check.

Britain today rejected the right claimed by East Germany to inspect the papers of Western officials.

The new East German move to curtail Western Allied rights in Berlin was announced after an incident at an East Berlin checkpoint involving a United States official, E. Allan Lightner Jr.

A foreign office spokesman told reporters "members of the military government in Berlin have full rights of freedom of access to all Berlin. No decree which might be made by the East German authorities can alter this in any way."

The spokesman said Western Allied personnel moving into East Berlin always do so in vehicles which carry number plates to identify them as officials. He suggested this should be sufficient identification for East German authorities.

Meanwhile, West Berlin police said today that East German police were seen to fire at and injure a man trying to flee to West Berlin Monday night. He was then taken away by the East Germans.

About 30 minutes later there was rapid sub-machine gun fire in the same area but out of sight of West Berlin police.

'Siegfried' Line Started By E. Germans

HOF, Germany (UPI)—East German Communists are building a miniature Siegfried line of trenches, underground bunkers and concrete slabs along the 174-mile border facing Bavaria, official West German sources disclosed today.

Official Bavarian sources, who declined to be identified, said East German peoples police, militia border police and civilian groups began building the crude new defenses along the winding border about one week ago.

Barbed wire along the border is being replaced with concrete slabs, similar to those which the East Germans used to build their "Chinese Wall" along the east-west border of Berlin, the sources said.

TRIBUTE TO HAMMARSKJOLD

The United Nations flag was lowered to "half mast" today by Mayor Percy Scurrell at the Legislative Buildings, watched by members of the Victoria UN Association, in memory of Dag Hammarskjold. After a minute's silence for the late UN secretary-general the mayor paid tribute to him as one of the "outstanding citizens of the century."

Labor Charges Power 'Stymied'

(See Also Page 3)

VANCOUVER (CP)—The provincial government has deliberately stymied the development of the Columbia River, the B.C. Federation of Labor (CLC) was told today.

A committee report on natural resources, presented during the federation's annual meeting, said federal-provincial bickering over the method of carrying out the $458,000,000 hydro-electric project on the Columbia has produced "a classic example of stalemate."

It added that the B.C. Energy Board "stacked the deck" against the Columbia by not including the benefits of cheaper federal financing and downstream benefits when it undertook a comprehensive comparison of development costs on the Columbia and the Peace Rivers.

DIFFERENT FORMULA
"The energy board instructed its engineering consultants to use a different formula in the case of the Peace, calculating the potential extra load for new industry, the loads to be assumed as 60 per cent Peace River and 40 per cent Vancouver."

"This is a completely unrealistic assumption to make the Peace River cost look more favorable."

The committee urged the federal and provincial governments to again meet to study Columbia development.

"If this is not done, Premier W. A. C. Bennett can tie up the Columbia and there is no legal means by which the people can force him to negotiate a settlement."

TRUTH CONCEALED
The committee charged Premier Bennett "has condoned the juggling of cost figures on the Columbia and Peace until people hardly know what is truth and what isn't."

He would export our cheapest power to the United States and the job potential of our people with it."

The committee report, adopted by the convention, went on record as against construction of the High

Arrow and Libby dams because, it said, alternative plans would provide the same benefits. It also was against the export of power and it called for an immediate start on construction of the Columbia under the B.C. Power Commission.

Queen Voices U.K. Regrets At A-Tests

LONDON (Reuters)—Queen Elizabeth said today Britain "deeply regrets" the unilateral Soviet resumption of nuclear weapons tests.

The Queen, mother of three children, made the statement in a government-written speech from the throne closing parliament's current session. It was read for her by a royal commission of peers.

In her statement Queen Elizabeth said:

"My government have worked for a resumption of negotiations on general disarmament. They have also striven for international agreement on the discontinuance, under effective control, of all tests of nuclear weapons."

"They deeply regret that the Soviet government should have initiated the resumption of these tests."

Skid-Row Millionaire Nabbed With Six Drug-Addict Derelicts

NEW YORK (AP)—A millionaire who used his fortune to help derelicts faced arraignment in felony court today on charges that he fed and housed six drug addicts in his Harlem shelter.

John S. Cram, 51, a former student at Princeton and Oxford Universities, was arrested in a raid on the shelter Monday and taken into custody along with six derelicts who were charged with possession of narcotics.

A friend said that from his college days Cram has been deeply concerned with poverty and has devoted his time and money to relieving the poor.

Cram told police he had been feeding and sheltering vagrants for about five years. At first, he handed out money, but he found that many of the recipients used it to get drunk. So he hit on the idea of the shelter.

JOHN S. CRAM

... he meant well.

He said he paid $200 a month rent and spent about $100 a day to care for the vagrants.

Police quoted Cram as saying he was aware some of the men used narcotics but he did not know it was against the law to shelter an addict.

Cram was charged with having permitted his premises to be used for the congregation of narcotics addicts and with possession of narcotics paraphernalia.

As he was led to a cell, Cram told a policeman: "Nobody looks out for drug addicts. There will be nobody to feed them tonight."

LOS ANGELES—A group of Arabs doesn't worry Eddie Cantor.

An Arab organization in Syria announced it was boycotting Cantor's films because of what it called his "Zionist affiliations and material support of Israel."

Said the comedian: "If they wish to boycott my pictures I just won't buy their camels."

Cantor has another reason for not worrying: He hasn't made a picture in 15 years.

TORONTO—The Leningrad Kirov Ballet presented Swan Lake Monday night minus six of its swans.

The stage at Maple Leaf Gardens, where the company is performing, was too small to accommodate the 32 ballerinas who usually enact the swans so six had to be withdrawn for the performance.

It didn't seem to matter to the audience which enthusiastically applauded the performance, the first of four here by the 111-member corps.

NEW YORK—Detectives assigned to the East 35th Street police station were called in by their boss today and given the word:

"I want this case cracked and I want it cracked fast!"

The grim-faced detectives cinched their shoulder holsters a little tighter, checked pencils and notebooks and headed downstairs. They didn't leave the building.

The case is right in their own police station.

Someone had broken into the lockers of two patrolmen and looted them, taking a pistol from one of them.

MIAMI, Fla.—Officers said Michael Karpan had equipped a gambling parlor with everything needed for a successful operation—except a back door.

Detective Sgt. Joe Gorman said a room behind Karpan's grocery had a mirror peephole in the door, a warning buzzer connected to the front of the store and other furnishings worth about $10,000.

But when a vice squad broke through the door Sunday, the nine persons inside had no way out. Karpan, 39, was charged with operating a gambling game.

BODMIN, England—A Cornish farmer and his wife were fined $56 Monday for inaccurate election returns after most of their ballot forms in a roadside post box were eaten by snails.

LONDON—A British couple, worried about the effects of the latest nuclear tests, today set out to recruit 50 other families to join in forming a community on a remote island.

Bernard Stanbury, 32, and his wife, Sally, 24, said they had asked the Royal Geographical Society to help them locate a suitable island in the southern hemisphere.

The plan is for each family to contribute £1,000 to set up the community.

NEW YORK—A bewildered-looking man walked into the National Broadcasting Company studios Monday night and said:

"I'm here to appear on a program."

"What program?" he was asked.

"I don't know," said the man. "I seem to have forgotten."

Studio officials looked into the matter and found that the program was the radio show Monitor.

The man? He was Dr. Harold C. Urey of the University of California. Dr. Urey is a Nobel Prize winner in chemistry.

would be harmful to humans. The experts sought ways of coping with water and vegetable contamination.

"Japan has been protesting the Soviet tests. If it is true that a 50-megaton bomb was exploded, it is an outrage trampling on our fervent pleas," chief cabinet secretary Masayoshi Ohira said.

Newspapers in Scandinavia grimly noted that the atmosphere had received the largest single dose of radioactivity to date.

Nehru declared that "such tests not only contaminate the atmosphere but pollute the hearts and minds of people everywhere."

"How can peace be established if the big powers continue their armaments race?" he asked.

He called for a moratorium on all nuclear tests until the great powers reached agreement on a permanent test ban.

INVADE EMBASSY GROUNDS

In Copenhagen, about 50 demonstrators invaded the grounds of the Soviet Embassy Monday night and staged a sit-down protest against the new explosion. Police had to lift and carry them away.

Outside the embassy grounds, another group of demonstrators paraded with placards denouncing the explosion.

In Britain, the deputy leader of the opposition Labor Party, George Brown, said that if the Russians had exploded a 50-megaton bomb it was an "immoral, shocking and horrible thing."

British newspapers denounced the blast as a wanton act of terrorism.

"It will arouse loathing throughout the earth, rather than fear of Russia's might," said The Daily Herald.

The Manchester Guardian warned:

"Though American restraint in the last few weeks has been admirable, the time must quickly be approached when the United States will consider itself to be in an intolerable disadvantage in the testing of nuclear weapons."

Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies told the Australian House of Representatives the Soviet explosion was designed to terrorize the people of the world. He said Premier Khrushchev was not concerned if the health of thousands of thousands of people was damaged by fallout from the bomb.

PEACE PRIZE WINNER WAITS LEAVE TO GO

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters) — Ex-chief Albert Luthuli awaited a government decision today on whether he will be allowed to go to Oslo to receive the Nobel Peace Prize awarded to him Monday.

Luthuli, 62, is confined by law to his home area near Stanger, north of Durban, and Interior Minister Jan De Klerk said he would have to consider "the whole matter" before deciding whether or not the former Zulu chief would be granted a passport to go to Oslo Dec. 10 for the presentation ceremony.

South African government leaders regard Luthuli as a dangerous political opponent because of his unremitting criticism of the nation's apartheid (segregation) policy.

Dief, Bennett 'Play Game'

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Labor leader said here Monday Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Premier Bennett of British Columbia are "playing hide and seek" with Canada's unemployment problem.

They are "attempting to hide unemployment figures while pretending to seek solutions," said Robert Smeal, president of the B.C. Federation of Labor.

Mr. Smeal told the opening session of the federation's annual convention economic trends indicate that 15.8 per cent of Canada's working force will be unemployed this winter.

Can a dentist specialize?

After completing six years in university, a graduate may wish to continue his studies in order to participate in one particular field of dentistry. The following are a few examples of specialized careers open to a dental student.

Paedodontics is dentistry for children, and provides the opportunity to do preventive work at the most crucial time in a patient's life. The periodontist deals with the supporting structures of the teeth and diseases affecting these tissues. Orthodontics is the prevention and correction of mouth deformities. The specialty of oral surgery demands skills of the highest order. The prosthodontist creates dental appliances such as artificial dentures. Since these replace functioning body organs and come into direct contact with living tissue, a full knowledge of anatomical and physiological science is required.

These are only a few of the specialized fields open to the dental student. Should you wish to learn more of dentistry, write for our informative pamphlet, Dentistry As A Career.

REDS LAG IN DEVELOPMENT OF A-ARMS, CLAIMS BRITON

LONDON (Reuters)—British Defence Minister Harold Watkinson today interpreted the latest series of Soviet nuclear tests as a sign that the Russians "have realized they are behind the Americans in the development of nuclear weapons."

Watkinson, speaking in the House of Commons, said preliminary estimates of Monday's big Soviet blast suggested that it had a yield "of the order of 30 megatons"—the equivalent of 30,000,000 tons of TNT.

He said a close watch was being kept on any increase in radioactivity in Britain as a result of the Soviet tests. The main problem was radioactive iodine, which could contaminate milk, he said.

"The government has made plans to meet the situation which may arise if there is an increase in the level of radioactive iodine in milk beyond that considered tolerable by the Medical Research Council," he said.

"Arrangements are being made to ensure that if iodine 131 in liquid milk reaches a danger level for infants up to one year old, alternative forms of milk can immediately be made available for the necessary period."

"It is not expected that the level will be such that other children or adults will be at risk," he said.

Young people are fortunate if, early in life, they are taught the values and uses of life insurance—and how to build a step-by-step security programme.

They are doubly fortunate if their parents have started them on such a plan while young—by paying the premiums until they are earning incomes of their own.

If you are the father or mother of a young son (or daughter), the insurance you buy for them now assures them lower premiums. It encourages thrift, starts them building an estate, and you can include provision for future policies even though their health may be later impaired through illness or accident.

As a parent—you can teach your children the importance of buying permanent personal policies of life insurance while young—other forms of savings and investment can wait until later when age or health isn't a controlling factor.

To guide you, we suggest you talk to The Excelsior Life man in your neighbourhood—he has been selected and trained to help you and your children develop your own "Blueprints for Security".

Hard to Recognize

IN LESS TURBULENT TIMES— if Berlin, The Congo, Viet Nam and other trouble spots were not stealing the headlines—the question of a United Nations seat for Red China would occupy more public attention than it does at the moment. The problem of recognition for Peiping is one of the most significant to be placed before the UN Assembly; conceivably it may yet wreck the organization.

The chief opposition to admission of Red China comes from the United States, and this attitude derives from two factors.

First is Washington's direct opposition to a delegate from Red China on the grounds of its ideology, its history of war against the UN in Korea, its retention of United States prisoners, its aggressive moves in various quarters of Asia including Tibet and South Viet Nam.

Secondly, the consequences of Red China's admission would be serious. It would mean a downgrading of Nationalist China's position in the UN, almost certainly its removal from the Security Council; it would put in question the whole structure of United States promises and guarantees to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and the effects of this on other Asian countries; it would entail a reversal of United States policy and a serious loss of prestige in the global struggle; it could jeopardize the whole United States position in the Far East, both militarily and politically. Or so the United States government contends.

But in the UN membership at large there has been a growing opinion in favor of Red China's admission. The country contains about one-quarter of the earth's population, is rising in economic and military strength, and shortly may build its own nuclear bomb.

Obviously a world organization which does not include Red China cannot be considered complete. It is equally obvious that Red China's membership would greatly alter the delicate balances of power in the United Nations.

On the other hand, Red China, while desiring membership, has been adamant in its conditions. Peiping has said repeatedly that it will not sit while Nationalist China remains a member; it has never given up its claim to Formosa, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's stronghold, nor repudiated its threat sooner or later to seize the island.

Heretofore the United States has been successful in defeating moves in the Assembly to discuss Red China's admission. This year, however, it appeared impossible to halt discussion since it was evident that a 50 per cent majority in favor of discussion could be obtained. The strategy now is to discuss the question but defeat a seating resolution through failure to gain the two-thirds majority required for such a decision.

Among the Western allies the question is chaotic. Britain has recognized Peiping but so far has sided with the United States in voting against its admission to the UN. Canada has sat on the fence, admitting that eventually Peiping must be recognized but hesitant to withdraw support from its American ally.

The latter's position has also had more than one facet. For several years the U.S. has been conducting talks with Peiping spokesmen in Warsaw. Yet the official cleavage is so extreme that United States newsmen are not even allowed by Washington to visit Red China.

Canadians do not fear the admission of Red China to the UN, but the feeling is widespread that existing guarantees to Formosa cannot be ignored. Formosa must be protected from the Communists, not merely as a wise move in the cold war, but for the sake of the 10 millions who inhabit the fortress island and depend on the West for their safety against an ideology they hate.

Mr. Kennedy no doubt recognizes that Red China must eventually become a member of the United Nations. The problem is how to engineer the move without repudiating guarantees. In solving that problem he must also solve the problem of preparing public opinion in the United States for such a change. The Korean war still carries sharp memories for many a bereaved American home.

Time to Stand and Be Counted

THE VICTORIA CHAMBER OF Commerce has taken a strange position indeed by refusing to express an opinion on the manner in which Mr. Bennett took over the British Columbia Electric. This action compounds the problem confronting the British Columbia Chamber, which sought the views of member chambers before stating its position.

The chairman of the provincial executive, Mr. Ralph D. Baker, expressed an understatement when he wrote to the local chamber that "there appears to be a measure of public concern that there has been a violation of accepted precepts of Canadian justice arising from the expropriation."

There most certainly is public concern over the Bennett government's original rejection of arbitration and later refusal to permit an appeal to the courts.

Why the provincial chamber of commerce should need opinion from its member groups to reach a conclusion may be a matter of procedure in chamber policy. On the other hand, when the local chamber ducks the issue entirely, it risks its standing in the community.

Does a refusal to discuss the matter and to take a stand imply that the chamber condones this outrage—the refusal to permit appeal from the government's arbitrary ruling? Is that the impression the Victoria chamber is prepared to leave with the public?

One by One the Great Newspapers Were Strangled, Until No Free Voice Was Heard

NEW YORK — The Inter-American Press Association, which has for years been conducting an aggressive fight in behalf of Western Hemisphere press freedoms, found itself with a new kind of fight on its hands when it met here last week—an internecine quarrel which at one point threatened to disrupt the solid front it has poised against Peron, Jimenez, Batista, Trujillo and other assassins of free speech.

At stake was the membership in IAPA of its mightiest ornament, the New York Times, and of its editor, Herbert L. Matthews, a long-time director of the Association.

Squaring off against Matthews were six Cuban editors-in-exile, who have seen their newspapers confiscated and converted into organs of propaganda for Fidel Castro.

The issue, reduced to its essentials: Matthews' stubborn insistence that the Cuban revolution has been widely misunderstood, badly reported (particularly in the United States) and, in part at least, due to corruption of the press itself in Havana.

Mr. Matthews, a member of the editorial board of the Times and its "policy man" on Cuba, is 61 years of age; a cultured man with a trace of British accent, who looks a bit like an alumnus of some Seniors' tennis tournament.

It is now almost five years since Matthews racked the world with his exclusive interview with Castro in the jungles of the Sierra Maestra. Batista had told Cuban: the young revolutionary was dead. The U.S. Ambassador in Havana believed this to be true. Matthews' first dispatch (on February 24, 1957) was printed on the front page of the Times and was immediately hailed as a scoop in the great traditions of journalism.

There followed the successful revolt;

the triumphant entry of Castro and his rag-tag followers into Havana; the flight of Batista; and well-nigh universal acclaim for the young patriot.

Among those welcoming Castro (on a nationwide telecast) was Jules Dubois, the able and hard-hitting chairman of the IAPA's freedom of the press committee.

Then, in succeeding months, the revolution for which so many high hopes were held seemed to go off the rails. There was the savage business of the drumhead courts in the open-air arena and cries of "To the wall!" The free elections promised by Castro were denied. One by one the great newspapers and magazines of Cuba were strangled, until no free voice could be heard.

Dubois, quickly disenchanted by the march of events, turned on Castro, as did the overwhelming majority of the 643 members of the Inter-American Press Association.

MATTHEWS

Not so Herbert Matthews. Having created the legend of Castro, he seemed determined to stick by it. The revolution he argued, had been greatly misunderstood. Castro was not a communist in the sense that he took orders from Russian masters. He was simply Castro, the mixed-up idealist, who took orders from no one and bitterly resented United States intrusion on domestic affairs.

With this as background, it was inevitable that the shadow of Cuba would loom large on IAPA deliberations here last week.

At the personal level, the burning question was: would Herb Matthews, a prominent figure in the Association, show up at the meetings to defend his position? It was rumored that he was ill; that he was being downgraded at the Times because of his writings; that he could scarcely face up to his old friends of the Association who had had their properties confiscated by Castro.

Matthews quickly put an end to such speculation by appearing at a reception, tendered on the eve of the meetings, by Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

"By God," a delegate exclaimed, "Herb's here. I didn't think he'd have the guts."

The meetings were scarcely underway when an editorial in the Times blew the lid off. Only three paragraphs long, and innocent enough looking to the uninitiated, it nevertheless contained two distinct barbs:

"The IAPA found itself driven from journalism into politics as it did its best to bring about the downfall of the Castro government and the return of the Cuban press to the freedom it knew before Batista's dictatorship began in 1952. Freedom of the press was lost in Cuba because of decades of corruption and social imbalances."

These statements shook the meetings. Jules Dubois took the platform to denounce the editorial and argue that the IAPA was a journalistic and not a political association. A Guatemalan editor named Ramon Blanco rocked the assembly when he disclosed (in what many delegates regarded as a remarkable breach of confidence) that he had been a dinner guest in the home of Orville Dreyfus, publisher of the N.Y. Times, and had been asked by his host "Not to mention the Matthews controversy at the meetings because Matthews thrives on controversy."

Senor Blanco added that, in his opinion, Matthews "had done wrong to the Cuban press."

The Cuban editors-in-exile considered the editorial a grave affront to their integrity. To enunciate their protest, they chose Dr. Guillermo Martinez Marquez, former editor of El Pais in Havana, a doughty fighter who had been a recipient of the "Hero of the Freedom of the Press" medal, the highest honor the IAPA can bestow on its members.

Dr. Martinez, who had attacked Castro in a Cuban television broadcast (and was threatened with his life) was furious. He introduced a resolution which denounced Matthews and the N.Y. Times for "coinciding with Castro—a semantic nicety which falls short of 'collaboration' but has the effect, in English, of 'going along with.'"

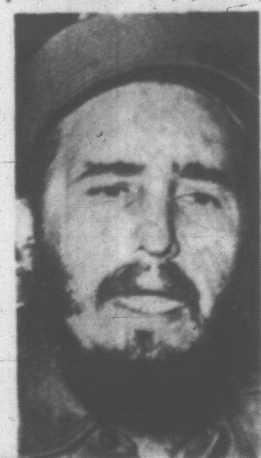

While sympathizing with the Cubans, the delegates quickly realized that this resolution would not wash. How could an organization dedicated to press freedoms pass a vote of censure on the Times (and Matthews) for merely expressing an opinion?

When the meeting reconvened the next morning, chairman Jules Dubois said that the Cubans had been misunderstood. Of course, the Times had a right to freedom of expression. The Cuban editors simply wanted to know: were they recognized as bona fide members of IAPA?

Herbert Matthews, who was not present when the resolution was introduced, turned up at the second session and said he "was happy" to accept the explanation. At once, he seized on the crucial issue: did or did not the Times have the right to express its own opinions, independently arrived at? If not, the newspaper would "have to consider its position in the IAPA."

Stubbornly, he insisted that the IAPA "had been obsessed by Cuba to the point of exclusivity and with in-

Heartening Conferences

By a Special Correspondent

BRIGHTON, England — The annual conference of both of Britain's big political parties have been held in the past two weeks; and for people of a liberal frame of mind they have been the most heartening conferences for years.

At the Labor party conference, as was predicted in advance, Mr. Hugh Gaitskell managed to reverse last year's conference vote in favor of unilateral disarmament and of contracting Britain out of the Western alliance.

Admittedly, some of the other motions, passed by the Labor conference were still pretty hair-raisingly silly. I suspect that Labor's recovery in public esteem is very liable to be checked by the way that the party has failed to dissociate itself from some blood-curdling strike threats that some fringe union leaders are brandishing around, and by some of the dog-eared domestic policy commitments which Mr. Gaitskell will nominally be obliged to include in his eventual election manifesto. (For example, the party has now committed itself to a quite unthought-out scheme for nationalizing private land on which new building or redevelopment takes place.)

But these are blurs on the party's image, rather than threats to Britain's future. If a Labor government did come to power, it would be a loyal Gaitskellite government, and one on whose sober good sense Britain's allies abroad could steadfastly rely. A year ago, just after Labor's 1960 conference at Scarborough, this did not seem by any means a safe assurance to give.

But it is the Tories' annual conference that has been even more of an epoch-making event. In large part the reform of Tory leadership that has now been set afoot is a direct consequence of Mr. Macmillan's realization that Labor's recovery to Gaitskellite respectability could secure it the votes of enough liberally-minded people in the country to win at the next general election. Mr. Macmillan does not intend to allow that to happen.

Therefore, on the eve of the conference, Mr. Macmillan promoted Mr. Iain Macleod, his left-wing colonial secretary who has become known as "Mr. Freedom" in Africa, to the posts of chairman of the Conservative party and leader of the House of Commons.

In effect, this makes Mr. Macleod third man in the Tory hierarchy, behind only Mr. Macmillan himself and Mr. R. A. Butler, the home secretary.

Remarkable Success

The conference, which has been scared by the entry into Britain of 100,000 colored West Indians this year, voted by a large majority in support of some restrictions on immigration.

But in other ways the liberal left of the Tory conference had quite remarkable successes.

The first of these successes was on the all-important issue of the Common Market: There was a motion on the order paper supporting the government's decision to enter negotiations. To this the anti-Europeans, led by a former junior minister, Sir Derek Walker-Smith, entered an amendment typical of Tory conferences.

It did not specifically condemn negotiations but it talked of the importance of "maintaining British sovereignty," and those who spoke to the amendment made it clear that they were anti-European through and through.

Nevertheless, at the opening of the conference, ministers had thought that they would probably have to accept the motion, excusing themselves by the wording rather than the spirit in which it was cast. Then, to their surprise, the Macleodite delegates won loud applause when they attacked Sir Derek for his negativity.

In his summing-up speech, Mr. Duncan Sandys, while repeating his usual pledges to the Commonwealth, plucked up his courage and asked that Sir Derek's amendment be rejected. To the platform's surprise, Sir Derek was beaten down by the astonishingly large majority of about 30 to one.

In view of this, the government can reasonably conclude that there are now virtually no internal British political difficulties about joining the Common Market. Commonwealth political difficulties are, of course, another matter.

Must Consultation Mean Stagnation?

By MAX FREEDMAN

IN THE past few days the Berlin situation has changed beyond hope of recall. It now is apparent that Russia has decided that it can raise the price of a Berlin settlement because the Western Allies have no firm idea of where to resist these Russian pressures. The problem now is not about West Berlin but about the relationship of West Berlin to West Germany. The West German government has become almost reckless in its recent statements on the Berlin problem. It has been driven into this extreme position by public opinion in Germany which fears that the United States is ready to accept a settlement in West Berlin that will prevent that city from living in freedom as a city destined to become the capital one day in the far future of a reunited Germany.

Freedman

In Bonn there are powerful pressures building up to bring West Berlin into the Federal Republic of West Germany to show that the destiny of this German city cannot be settled without the consent of Free Germany.

There are legal obstacles to the closer association of West Berlin with West Germany since the entire occupation rights of Berlin rest on the principle that the city is to enjoy a different status from the federal republic.

There is nothing, however, to stop the federal republic from increasing its subsidies to West Berlin, or alternatively, threatening to stop them unless West Berlin has a guaranteed status as a free German city. The operative word in that demand is not "free" but "German."

The West German government has no objection to having the European headquarters of the United Nations or the headquarters of UNESCO, stationed in West Berlin. But it objects strenuously to the creation of West Berlin as a sort of international show window that will testify to Europe's interest in the United Nations at the cost of demonstrating the Allied lack of interest in the unity of Germany.

The state department in recent days has been reminded in emphatic terms that when West Germany agreed to contribute armed force to NATO it received a pledge from the Western powers that the Bonn government would alone be regarded as the authentic and recognized spokesman for all the German people in world affairs.

With rising anger, Bonn has asked Washington how it can reconcile this pledge with the rumors that the United States is willing to accept the de facto recognition of East Germany and the still more disturbing report that it may be possible to agree to the separate representation of East Germany and West Germany at the United Nations.

The Bonn government has always refused to accept membership in the United Nations unless it is the sole German representative.

The state department has found it necessary to deny that these rumors provide any accurate guides to what the final American policy will be. But German suspicion has by no means been placated or removed.

The Allies in fact have four different approaches to the Berlin problem, though they are united in their opposition to appeasement and in their desire to avoid a nuclear war.

France is opposed to German unification because she fears that would give Germany the ultimate domination of Western Europe. Britain wants a settlement of Berlin on terms more generous to Russia than the United States is now willing to accept. And West Germany argues that the continued partition of Germany will breed those forces of revenge which it should be the common policy of Western nations to restrain.

President Kennedy has said that Mr. Khrushchev, like Napoleon, may be able to win many of his battles because he is opposed by a coalition that spends much of its time and its strength in agreeing on a policy that it can jointly support.

That has certainly been true in the Berlin crisis. The question is now being asked whether Washington should not assume greater responsibilities as the leader of the Allies in announcing a firm policy, in sticking to it and in refusing to allow the process of consultation to degenerate into a search for the lowest common denominator of agreement.

tense emotionalism." He questioned the validity of documents brought to the meeting by a defecting Cuban consul in Buenos Aires, purporting to prove that Castro planned "to subvert the Argentine press and investigate its seizure by the Communists as has been done in Cuba"—despite the fact that Dubois assured the meeting their authenticity had "been proved beyond any reasonable doubt."

Matthews went even further by chiding the association's popular president, Don Ricardo Castro Beeche, for attending a rally of Cuban exiles in New York. "This," said Matthews, "is politics and not journalism."

In reply, Dubois said that the IAPA was "obsessed" with Cuba for the same reasons that it had been obsessed with the dictatorships of Peron, Jimenez and others.

There was loud applause when Dr. Beeche, in rebuttal, said: "As a citizen and as a lover of freedom I have the right to go any place, any time. We are forced to this struggle. If it is political, let it be."

The debate was ended—or at least suspended — when chairman Andrew Heiskell, top executive of the Luce publications, read a three-point statement: (1) any member or paper had the unquestioned right to state what he believes to be the truth; (2) free debate is essential and inevitable; (3) members of the IAPA feel that the Cubans-in-exile are "highly-respected members" of the association.

Did this assuage the feelings of the Cuban delegates? Only partly. "We have been hurt," said Martinez Marquez. And it was clear that the hurt had been imposed by an old friend, the originator of the Castro legend, who had refused to stand unreservedly at the Cubans' side in their hour of travail.

'DYNAMIC DRIVE TO PROSPERITY'

PM Offers Resources Plan Promises Financial Help

By BEN WARD

MONTREAL (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker called the provinces Monday night to join with Ottawa in a co-operative effort to harness Canada's natural resources in a dynamic drive towards greater national prosperity.

He offered a three-part plan for getting the project underway, each part linked to a pledge of federal financial backing.

"It is vital to Canada's destiny that Canadians develop a bold and vigorous policy of national expansion," Mr. Diefenbaker told a dinner marking the opening day of the Resources for Tomorrow conference.

To translate the conference's decision into action, he proposed:

1. A National Resources Council to be set up by the federal government and involving membership from all 10 provinces. It would be concerned with resource conservation, renewal and development.

2. A full-fledged conference on resources, similar to the current week-long session, held every three or four years to review progress in resource development.

3. A national advisory land and water use board charged with making recommendations for the co-ordination of land and water use on a national scale.

RECALLS PRAIRIE BOYHOOD

Mr. Diefenbaker stressed that the new national concept of conservation and planning would in no way infringe on the provinces' constitutional control over their natural resources.

He recalled in his Saskatchewan boyhood the wildlife appeared to be unlimited and great whooping cranes, now almost extinct, could be seen on almost every sandhill.

But today there was a need for positive measures to preserve and develop Canadian wildlife. "Closely related to this is an increasing demand for recreation of all sorts."

Mr. Diefenbaker said pure and wholesome water is vital to the nation's future. "Unless action is taken it will be in short supply by 1980. Water shortages... already exist in various regions."

Premier Lesage drew applause from the largely English-speaking audience when he pledged that Quebec will co-operate in the conference's aim of organizing resource management on a national blueprint.

The first day of the conference, which has drawn 700 delegates from governments, industry, business and universities across Canada, was devoted mainly to spelling out the theories under which it will work.

Speakers made education a dominant theme, calling for more training in the sciences and skills to supply the kind of manpower needed to generate new development.

Prof. F. Kenneth Hare of McGill University said education is the greatest problem faced by Canadians in opening new channels of prosperity.

On the same theme, Prof. Pierre Darenais of the University of Montreal said physical riches alone cannot create a wealthy and vigorous nation. Human initiative was the key and the ultimate resource.

CANAL PROJECT DROPPED, MARITIMERS HARD HIT

OTTAWA (CP)—A century-old Maritimes dream was shattered—at least temporarily—when Works Minister Walker announced Monday that the federal government is not prepared to undertake construction of the Chignecto Canal.

He called the project to link the Bay of Fundy and Northumberland Strait "very unsound economically" and said the annual cost of the canal would be at least 20 times the estimated saving in shipping costs.

It was hard news for residents of Canada's eastern provinces who cherish the thought of having the waterway cut 500 miles off the 1,403-mile sea voyage from Montreal around Nova Scotia to Saint John, N.B.

Premier Robichaud of New Brunswick said the people of his province have been "sold down the river on the project."

In Fredericton, Michael Wardell, honorary secretary of the Chignecto Canal committee, said the federal government's intention to put aside the plan had been evident since June, 1960, when the Progressive Conservative government headed by Hugh John Fleming was defeated by Mr. Robichaud's Liberal administration.

Both the premier and Mr. Wardell expressed dissatisfaction with the present government's study of the project.

Mr. Walker said preliminary estimates put the cost of the canal at $142,000,000. He said carrying the debt and operating the canal would cost $10,000,000 a year, while the annual saving in transport costs would be $300,000 at the most.

He based his decision mainly on a 1933 study by a special commission which had produced "very complete" information.

... REPORTING

OTTAWA — Time and again in the last couple of years Prime Minister Diefenbaker and his defence ministers implied that even if Canada didn't accept U.S. atomic warheads for our new Bomarc missiles, the Bomarc's with conventional high explosive warheads would still be mighty useful weapons.

They did this by admitting that "the full potential" of the weapon could not be realized without atomic warheads; that with high explosive warheads its "maximum effectiveness" would not be achieved.

"The full potential of these defensive weapons is achieved only when they are armed with nuclear warheads," Diefenbaker told the Commons in 1959.

In September, Defence Minister Harkness said that "whether or not they are ever actually armed with nuclear warheads... we are getting a greater amount of protection and value from these two Bomarc bases, per dollar invested in them, than from any other kind of equipment."

It is true that the Bomarc A, the 250-mile, liquid-fueled first model of this Boeing ground-to-air missile, was designed to take either a nuclear warhead or a conventional warhead. But this is not the missile Canada is getting—the first two of which were delivered at the RCAF's new Bomarc base at North Bay last week.

The Canadian Bomarc's are the B models—range, 400 miles; propellant, solid fuel; warhead, atomic.

Except that no warheads are coming with them: the Canadian government has not yet announced a decision on whether it will accept atomic warheads.

But the shocking news that no alternative warhead exists has only now seeped out. The government encouraged rather than corrected the erroneous belief that Bomarc's in a non-nuclear Canada would have high explosive warheads.

The blunt fact is that if we do not accept U.S. nuclear warheads for these missiles, the Bomarc's will sit utterly useless on their launching pads—each Bomarc a half-million-dollar pilotless airplane that could bring down an enemy bomber only through the unlikely fluke of colliding with it.

The warheads of these missiles are tremendously sophisticated—as, of course, is the entire missile with its built-in radar and navigational systems. It is thus not practical in terms of time and cost to consider designing and developing a conventional Bomarc warhead for production in Canada for the 56 missiles that will be installed at North Bay and La Macaza, Que.

It is even more absurd to contemplate 56 dud Bomarc's propped up like futuristic scarecrows while Russian bomber navigators set their target courses via North Bay and La Macaza, the holes in the Americans' atomic Bomarc line.

"The two Bomarc squadrons," Harkness emphasized in September, "are... part of a chain of 10 which protect all of the eastern part of this continent from bomber attack."

Some protection. But surely the disclosure that the only explosive for our Bomarc's is an atomic bomb must swiftly end the hypocritical farce over whether Canada will or will not accept nuclear weapons. By accepting a bargain in defence costs offered by the U.S. (Harkness said the cost to Canada of the two Bomarc bases will be only $13,993,560), the government has committed Canada to oppose the threat of Russian bombers with nuclear Bomarc's because there are no other kind.

Ahmad Tells All

WASHINGTON (UPI)—More than anything else I can think of right now, I would like to get a look at the secret diary of Bashir Ahmad, the Pakistani camel driver who has been in this country visiting Vice-President Lyndon B. Johnson.

I am only assuming, of course, that Ahmad keeps such a diary. It may be that he does not believe in committing his inner thoughts to paper.

But wouldn't you give a lot to know what sort of an impression our "veep" has made on Ahmad? I certainly would.

I have even gone so far as to imagine that some of the diary entries would read something like this:

"A funny thing happened to me today on my way into town with a load of straw. I was going down the road minding my own business when suddenly a tall stranger rushed up and began carrying on like I was his long lost brother.

"He pumped my hand and gave me a bear hug that darn near collapsed a lung. The poor fellow must have been out in the sun too long.

"I couldn't understand what he was saying, but I smiled and nodded like I was agreeing with him. I figured that was the best way to handle the situation.

"All Hertz, who runs a rent-a-camel service in Karachi, tells me that the tall stranger I met on the road yesterday actually was the American vice-president. He says all American politicians act that way.

"This thing is getting more fantastic all the time.

"Dear Diary, I can hardly believe this, but here I am in an airplane, flying to America. An airplane doesn't smell as nice as a camel, but it rides smoother.

"Landed today at a place called New York. The tall stranger was there to meet me. Took no chances on getting a rib cracked. This time I gave him a bear hug.

"I am at a place called the LBJ Ranch in a place called Texas. It is very confusing. If the tall stranger is truly the vice-president, why does he live away out here?

"The tall stranger took me around to see some cows and horses. Also saw a big herd of Cadillacs. They may be all right for him, but I'd walk a mile for a camel."

HOME GARDEN

Leaves Smother Small Plants

Most gardeners start gathering the fallen leaves from the wide open spaces, that is, the driveway and the lawn.

These areas are the easiest to clear and show the greatest results for little effort.

The leaves that fall on the rock garden, flower borders, and shrubbery are left for a later clean-up.

Jack—always with the hope that a strong wind will blow them around the corner and out of sight.

From the angle of neatness this procedure is satisfactory, but from the gardening angle the cart is before the horse.

SMOTHERED
Leaves which are left on the rock garden, for example, can do a lot of damage, for it takes but two or three of fair size to smother completely the smaller, and often most precious, plants.

Few rock plants can tolerate the exclusion of light and air in the moist conditions found under a covering of leaves.

Heathers also suffer from rotting leaves among their foliage, as do small conifers, especially the spreading forms of juniper.

The flowering perennials suffer crown rot when leaves pile up against the stems, and many a hedge has gone bare at the bottom because leaves prevented free movement of air.

Therefore the place to start is among the plants themselves, and this should be done before the fallen leaves become wet and stick to the plants like a saturated tissue.

The job may have to be repeated a few times before all the leaves are down, but it is better the backache should come from saving the plants than from replacing losses.

BUSINESS VIEWS

Forest Industry in Deep Trouble

by GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

All last week — National Forest Products Week — residents of B.C. heard how important to this province's economy.

They heard how 40 cents of every dollar earned comes from the industry, that one person in seven is directly employed in the industry and that the 80,000 forest industry jobs create another 150,000 jobs in other industries. But while Gordon Bell all the beneficial aspects of the industry were well publicized during the week, there was far too little attention paid to another aspect — the fact that the forest industry in B.C. is in deep trouble.

Last Thursday, in Vernon, J. R. Nicholson, president of the Council of the Forest Industries of B.C., in a speech that received little notice, laid it on the line that "the time has come for all who are interested in the continued prosperity of B.C. to stop taking its forest industry for granted."

CONCERNS ALL

Demand for pulp and some other products remains encouraging but the lumber, plywood and shingle sections of B.C.'s forest industry are in trouble and that is a matter of concern to all of us. Overproduction in relation to demand is one reason for this problem, but British Columbia cannot accept this as an apology while sales decline and unemployment increases," Mr. Nicholson said.

Just prior to National Forest Products Week, Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston suggested in a speech in Victoria that the British Columbia industry should cut the profits on export sales in order to regain markets.

What the minister seemed to suggest was that the high price of British Columbia lumber, the factor that has made it non-competitive in many foreign markets, could be easily adjusted.

HIGH COSTS

The problem lies much deeper than that, as Mr. Nicholson made clear at Vernon. It is not high profits but high costs which plague British Columbia forest industries.

And one of the two main factors in making it a high-cost operation can be laid directly at the door of Mr. Williston and his colleagues.

In the past decade government charges as a cost of operation in the B.C. forest industry have increased by 140 per cent.

At the same time the capital cost of construction and operation has also increased by 40 per cent and labor costs have increased by two-thirds.

In the foreign market Greek bonds improved but dollar stocks reflected the overnight setback on Wall Street.

AT VANCOUVER

volume continued heavy in Western Mines, Vancouver Island copper prospect, which traded 771,000 shares Friday and 104,000 Monday, rising from 28 to 43 cents. About 40,000 shares traded this morning in the 41-43 cent range.

Friday Mines opened at 39-40 and sold off in moderate volume to 36. Prices were mixed during the morning. Fort St. John moved at $2; Bethlehem Copper traded at $1.35; Granduc was between $3.15 and $3.25; Western Mines sold at 41 to 42; Massey Ferguson sold at $10 1/2; Growers Wine at $10.

While B.C.'s costs of production have been losing markets for the rest.

for its forest products, other areas—Alberta, Saskatchewan, Idaho, Montana—with far inferior species of trees, have been able to open their forests and undersell B.C.

What's the answer? Is it as Mr. Williston suggests, to cut profits further, which would mean eliminating profits? The end result of this would simply be to eliminate the industry—or at least those segments of it which are unprofitable.

Or is Mr. Nicholson's suggestion more sensible? "If we want to stay in production and provide jobs, must we not find ways of reducing the cost of stumpage, logging taxes and other government charges? Do not we also have to reduce costs by more efficient operations and so maintain employment capacity?"

Further expansion for Laurentide Finance Corp. Ltd. of Vancouver—formerly Imperial Investments—has been predicted by president Peter Paul Saunders who said the company is considering buying "a number" of U.S. loan and finance companies.

First move into the U.S. for Laurentide came this spring when it obtained control of Mercantile Acceptance of California.

The planned expansion, Mr. Saunders estimated, would have made B.C., with 60 per cent of Canada's softwood supply, Canada's highest production of expansion funds internally and go to the market for the rest.

Hal Malone LOOKS AT SPORTS

Which is the better game—fivepins or tenpins? Every time I hear this argument I think of the mental furore Cleopatra created when she decided she had had enough of Caesar and set about to find the most painless way to go.

Instead of knocking off Caesar, Cleopatra went through the strain of watching slaves done in by various means before selecting the easiest way. Finally, she had a large snake delivered in a fruit basket (some wide-awake press agent must have been in on this arrangement) and let things take their course.

If you have to go, that may be the best way. Selecting tenpins as a better game than fivepins could be messier. If the choice (of games) is wrong, however, I have company.

Out of the 30,000,000 bowling nuts in North America, only a minority prefer fivepins. The species abound solely in Canada, are easily identifiable by the way they go around muttering, "That blankety-blank corner pin." The rules of the game dictate that you can knock all the pins down except the king—or left corner—pin and still score nothing.

'We've Been Spared Duckpin Disease

In the United States fivepins are as common as National League baseball teams that can beat the New York Yankees. The few promoters who tried to stir up interest in it were forced to leave town in a barrel.

In certain backward areas of the U.S., a hardy group favors a game called duckpins, a sort of amalgam of fivepins and tenpins. Duckpins, more undernourished than standard-size tenpins, are the target for an overgrown golf ball (actually a 4½-pound ball). A duckpin gets two shots, scores as a tenpinner would.

Fortunately, the duckpin disease has not spread to these shores. Many of us have enough trouble heaving a 16-pound ball at tenpins without having to throw aspirins at elongated matchsticks.

To get authoritative support for my contention that tenpins is a more scientific game than fivepins, I asked Graham Corrigan of Brunswick of Canada for his expert opinion. I might as well have asked Little Orphan Annie.

"That's an interesting question," he said, wriggling like a ballet dancer with a bad case of the itch. "In fivepins you have 30-odd spares to shoot at; in fivepins you have to get that corner pin or you are dead."

Bowlers Go Into Fits Over Splits

Mr. Corrigan's reluctance to impale himself is understandable. His firm makes and sells bowling balls, lanes, automatic-pinsetters for both games. He is not readily apt to offend the hand that nourishes him.

Nonetheless, I believe he did indicate which game demands more skill than fortune. Any tenpinner will readily tell you that there are a multiplicity of spares which can be made even if the headpin is knocked out, leaving a toothless collection. Modesty forbids me from revealing how often I have hit the 6-10 (wide-open) split but some bowlers are quite adept at it.

In fivepins, if you render the headpin hors de combat, you might as well go and get another beer. Sparing a barn-door split requires a fantastically sensitive ball and heavy prayer. While attempting it you run the risk of leaving the kingpin untouched, which makes for a pretty dull evening.

Mr. Corrigan did admit that the trend in Canada is to tenpins. Brunswick formerly did a 90-10 ratio of fivepin to tenpin business in Canada; now does a 75-25 ratio.

Guess Who Mr. Bach Bowled Over?

One reason for the swell to the big ball is the influx of large tenpin lanes. In Burnaby, a company is erecting at a cost of $1,250,000 a 48-lane tenpin temple complete with plush carpets, dining room and parking for 500 cars. When completed next spring it will be the site of the Brunswick-sponsored Dominion bowling championships.

Other reasons explain the growing fondness for tenpins. Once regarded as an excuse for a "night out," the tenpin alley today is a training ground for people who see strikes as a means of striking it rich.

Brunswick and other suppliers have broadened their payrolls with "bowling consultants," the trade name for talented keepers who spread the gospel for glossy retainers.

In addition, these consultants give exhibitions, play match games on television, peddle shirts, shoes and gloves, and end up the fiscal year with between $50,000 and $100,000.

In my efforts to reach this level, I am reminded of the time while learning to play the violin I tackled something by Bach. My father, after listening carefully, leaned over to my mother and said: "Let's face it. Bach won."

Special Hunters' Event On Retriever Program

Sportmen who have often wondered just how their retrievers would stack up against other hunting dogs will have a chance to do a little comparing next Sunday.

Opening a day of retriever trials at Goldstream Island hunters' special event, in which any Island sportsman may enter his dog.

If the dogs don't perform up to scratch, the hunters and other dog enthusiasts should be able to see how it should be done as retrievers trained for trial work compete for prizes in four other events and a pair of trial veterans from Vancouver go through their paces.

SMYTH TO JUDGE

Staged by the Vancouver Island Gun Dog and Tracking Club, Sunday's trials will start at 10 a.m. with the hunters' event and continue with a puppy stakes for dogs up to 12 months; junior stakes, for dogs up to two years; an open qualifying event, and an open stakes, which will decide the top retriever of the day.

Judge for the trials will be Vancouver's Jack Smyth, one of top professional handlers on the continent. At the conclusion of the open stakes, Smyth will run two of his campaign retrievers through a demonstration display.

It is expected that the program will continue until about 4 p.m.

Any persons, whether a club member or not, may enter a retriever in the hunters' event or other trials. Entries may be submitted at the grounds.

STEP IN CAMPAIGN

Sunday's program marks another step in the sponsoring club's campaign to revive Island interest in retriever trials. It is hoped to eventually stage events that will attract as much attention as did the former competitions at Parksville.

Until they were abandoned about 10 years ago, annual trials at the Up-Island centre attracted entries and spectators from many parts of Canada and the U.S. and as many as 3,000 spectators watched the events.

Sunday's trials at Goldstream promise to produce some close competition and may draw a fair number of spectators. Watching trained retrievers at work is always an interesting experience.

Hoop Leagues Set Deadlines

The Saanich Suburban Basketball League, which will play interlocking league games with teams from the Victoria Amateur Basketball Association and the Victoria church hoop loop this season has set Oct. 28 as the deadline for accepting team entries.

The Victoria association will close off entries on Oct. 31 and start league play Nov. 6. Saanich league competition gets under way Nov. 9.

VABA officials announced today that the touring Harlem Clowns had been booked for an exhibition game here on Nov. 9.

EAGER BEAVER RETRIEVER

Winnipeg Juggernaut Gives Day Nightmare

WINNIPEG (CP)—Winnipeg Blue Bombers clinched first place in the Western Football Conference Monday night by trouncing third-place Calgary Stampede 42-7.

The Bombers now are five points ahead of Edmonton Eskimos, who have only two games left in the regular schedule.

The Stamps and Eskimos clash in a two-game, total-points, elimination opening on Nov. 11 to decide who will go against Winnipeg in a best-of-three final.

Paced by fullback Gerry James, who scored a touchdown, two field goals and five converts, the Bombers led 11-7 at halftime after a 3-0 first quarter hammering. Winnipeg was ahead 25-7 going into the final quarter.

The Bombers had 22 first downs to Calgary's 10. They rushed 238 yards and passed for 240 more, compared with a minus 30-yard total for Calgary on the ground and 216 yards in the air.

Calgary quarterback Eagle Day lost a total of 90 yards on his own, most of them on prospective passing plays.

James kicked a field goal from about the 20-yard line late in the first quarter to give Bombers a 3-0 lead.

On the first play of the second quarter from the Calgary 10-yard line, Day passed 50 yards to Lovell Coleman well behind the Bombers' deep backs. The fleet back ran the rest of the way and Gene Filippski converted to bring an early end to Stamp's scoring.

The Bombers came back with James making a 30-yard march at 10:31 of the quarter. His convert made it 10-7 and Jack Delveaux added his single on a punt from the Calgary 31, with Calgary's Harvie Wylie being rouged on the play.

Winnipeg's Leo Lewis burst through left tackle and ambled for a 63-yard touchdown early in the second half. James converted. Less than eight minutes later Kenny Ploen hit Farrell Funston with a pass from the Winnipeg 25 and the Winnipeg end ran 20 more yards for a 73-yard touchdown. James again converted.

The final quarter saw James kick his second field goal of the night at 1:01, then Gordie Rowland picked up Earl Lunsford's fumble at the Calgary seven and went over for a touchdown which James converted at 5:46. A 17-yard touchdown pass from Hal Ledyard to Funston with James again converting ended the Winnipeg scoring at 9:46.

Coach Bobbie Dobbs said after the game "we haven't a good enough team as yet to take on a club like Winnipeg in the second game of a week-end doubleheader without a week's rest."

Tackle Don Luzzi said "we'll get 'em (Winnipeg) in the finals."

On the strength of the bye into the Western finals, coach Bud Grant said he would bench some of his key personnel in the remaining two games of the schedule. He indicated rookie quarterback Dick Thornton would be used, giving quarterbacks Ploen and Ledyard a rest.

AGILE ADIOS ONE RACE FROM END OF CAREER

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—The fastest harness horse of all time, Adios Butler, is just five years old but he is only one big race away from retirement.

Favored so heavily that no one was allowed to bet on him, Adios Butler scored his 10th straight victory Saturday by finishing a half length ahead of Caduceus in the first leg of the $80,500 American pacing classic. The time was 57.3-5, three seconds off Adios Butler's world record for the mile.

If Adios Butler goes in the second leg at Hollywood Park next Saturday and wins it, he will have taken the classic for the second straight year. The syndicate that owns Adios has announced this will be his final event. He will be placed in stud next spring.

SEATTLE (AP)—"Boxing is bad," the new president of the National Boxing Association said Monday, "but I refuse to believe it is as bad as it is painted."

Dr. Charles P. Larson, said that congressional hearings have helped but have not eradicated the evils.

"The gangsters and hoodlums," said the Tacoma, Washington, pathologist, "are just sitting back and waiting to come out again."

"I would like to see Sen. Kefauver's bill for a federal boxing commissioner become law. Even if it doesn't, the NBA has to take the lead."

The physician—he is past president of the College of American Pathologists and the International Association of Forensic Pathologists—said he believed the sport is worth saving.

"Properly run, it makes men, not criminals."

The NBA president, who was an amateur middleweight, has one prescription he thinks may aid the ailing sport.

He has proposed a tax-free, non-profit NBA research and education foundation with a budget of $500,000 a year.

"We want to find out what boxing really needs, then do something about it," he said. "A big annual show, featuring champions in all bouts, could help us raise the money."

BRUINS OFFER HELP TO ESQUIMALT CLUB

Boston Bruins today offered assistance to the newly-formed Esquimalt junior "A" hockey club.

Lynn Patrick, general manager of the National Hockey League club, acted quickly after learning of the decision of Esquimalt Sports Centre to form a junior "A" team. Patrick informed Victoria's Ivan Temple, president of the BCAHA, by telephone from Boston this morning that the Bruins would supply Esquimalt with equipment and forward a cheque for $1,000.

Patrick last spring had offered the same assistance for a Victoria club if the team was entered in a junior "A" league and it was not known until this morning if he would be willing to support the Esquimalt squad, which is slated to play exhibitions this season until playoffs.

SASK. STATE MEDICAL BILL

Doctors 'Unreasonable'

REGINA (CP)—A. T. Stone (CCF—Saskatoon) criticized Saskatchewan doctors Monday for their stand-on the medical care insurance bill now before the legislature. "The doctors did try to defeat this government in the last election and they are positively opposing this legislation," he said.

Mr. Stone was referring to the annual meeting last week in Saskatoon when the Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons voted almost unanimously not to support the Medical Care Insurance Act.

"I believe in the democratic rights of Parliament and believe it is wrong when a small segment of society flouts the constitutional rights of authority," Mr. Stone said.

Mrs. Gladys Strum (CCF-Saskatoon) said: "The doctors gave up the principle of a secret ballot then so that they could put the bee on any of their people who opposed the majority."

She said the doctors had conducted the vote by a show of hands.

Mrs. Strum said it had been hoped that the medical profession would help the government to provide the best possible medical care plan.

"I'm sure that, if they were reasonable people wanting to do things in a fair-minded way, they would have done so," she said.

Doctors Blasts Doctors

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. Boyd Upper said Monday night many Canadian doctors are "pretty well disgusted with Saskatchewan doctors" over their opposition to the proposed Saskatchewan medical care plan.

The Toronto doctor, executive assistant of Ontario Liberal leader John Wintermeyer, made his statement as he took part in a panel discussion on health plans.

His remarks were in reply to a question from the floor regarding the attitude of medical association members toward government health plans.

Dr. Upper said Canadian doctors aren't as opposed to them as United States doctors. Much of the opposition in Saskatchewan resulted because many of the doctors were "fugitives from the British health scheme."

All speakers said their parties believed in government health schemes. Taking part in the panel with Dr. Upper were Andrew Brewin, a member of the executive council of the federal New Democratic Party; E. Shipley Birrell, Ontario Social Credit leader, and Mrs. Phyllis Clark, organizing secretary of the Communist Party of Canada.

Delaying Move Fails

REGINA (CP)—A Liberal move to refer the medical care bill to a select standing committee on law amendments and delegated powers was defeated in the legislature today.

This would have allowed the committee to call witnesses and would have delayed passage of the bill.

The move, proposed by Wilf Gardiner (L—Melville), was defeated 24-15, with members voting on party lines.

'HORSE OPERA'

Smash Hit For Met's First Night

By MILES A. SMITH

NEW YORK (AP)—Leontyne Price, whose soprano voice is golden, was a Girl of the Golden West Monday night as the Metropolitan Opera opened its 77th season.

She played the Italian horse opera to the hilt.

Tenor Richard Tucker demonstrated again that he is a modern-day Caruso in the role of Dick Johnson, a disguised bandit who wins the love of Miss Price, a pistol-packing and Bible-reading gal named Minnie.

Anseldo Colzani was a splendid Jack Rance, the sheriff whose love for Minnie is doomed to failure.

The Girl of the Golden West, set in a California mining camp during the gold rush days, was a David Belasco stage play before Giacomo Puccini turned it into an Italian opera titled La Fanciulla del West, which had its world premiere at the Met in 1910.

The leading lady was the first Negro singer to play a top role in an opening night at the Met. She is the sixth Negro on the Met's roster, the first having been Marian Anderson in 1955.

The musical had its tryout last month at the O'Keefe Centre in Toronto.

Firms' Help Sought In CD Training Plan

OTTAWA (CP)—Some 8,000 industrial corporations in Canada are being asked by the government to co-operate with the army in the forthcoming survival training program.

The defence department said Defence Minister Harkness is writing to presidents of the corporations, urging them to assist their interested employees in getting enough time off to take the six-week course.

Chinese Protest 'Persecution'

WINNIPEG (CP)—Three Winnipeg Chinese associations have officially petitioned Ellen Fairclough, minister of citizenship and immigration, protesting the "persecution" of RCMP investigations into Chinese immigration, it was learned today.

The brief, prepared on behalf of Manitoba's Chinese population, said the "RCMP investigations into what is termed the Chinese immigration racket should be either concluded or stopped."

The petition was signed by residents of the Chinese National League, Chinese Canadian Citizens' Association of Manitoba and the Winnipeg Chinese Cultural Association. It was drafted following a series of executive meetings held within the last month in Winnipeg Chinatown, it was learned.

FEEL LIKE CRIMINALS

"We can honestly say that we have been shamed by the investigation and feel like criminals because of the very connotation of the probe," the brief said.

A distinct feeling of resentment and bitterness has been evident among the Chinese in Manitoba for years," it continued. "But the bitter feeling reached its peak recently (Aug. 25) when a special RCMP constable from Hong Kong was attacked in Winnipeg's Chinatown by a person armed with a meat cleaver."

A preliminary hearing into an assault charge against

The brief asks Mrs. Fairclough what specific role the Hong Kong constable played regarding the investigations.

"We ask you how many real racket agents have been arrested and convicted and how many 'illegal-entry' Chinese have been given their Canadian citizenship," the brief asked of Mrs. Fairclough.

Russia Told Canada Ready To Fight at U.S. Bidding

LONDON (CP)—Tim Buck, general secretary of the Canadian Communist party, told the 22nd Soviet party congress today that Canadian imperialist capital is ready to plunge Canada into another war at the bidding of the United States of America.

"However, the working people are vigorously opposing war preparations," he said. "No war over Berlin" is the slogan supported by all working men and women of Canada," he added in a speech reported by the Soviet news agency Tass.

Buck and his fellow Canadian delegates, Leslie Morris and John Weir, also appeared on Moscow's television Monday night. Tass said Buck described the congress as un-

BUCK WAS DAZZLED

While listening to Premier Khrushchev's report on the draft program of the Communist party in the Soviet Union, Buck said, he and the other Canadian delegates had been dazzled and deeply moved by the prospects it was opening up and were confident of its fulfillment.

Saanich Rejects Beer Plebiscite

Saanich council Monday decided to take no action on a petition requesting a plebiscite on the sale of beer by the glass in the municipality.

But the council is certain to review the matter in the near future because the absence of beer licences is standing in the way of construction of hotels and motels in the municipality.

"I'm certainly not against holding a plebiscite," said

Coun. Harold Todd, "but I think the petition should be backed by more names."

The majority of councillors held the same view.

The petition only bore seven names.

Petitioner D. E. Dowsley, 1770 Taylor Street, said the financing of a large commercial development was contingent on the granting of a liquor licence.

CLOSE VOTE

Reeve George Chatterton recalled the sale of beer by the glass was defeated by only 1 per cent in a 1954 plebiscite.

Results of the plebiscite showed that 54.9 per cent of the voters were in favor of beer licences. A 55 per cent vote was required to make it legal.

Both the reeve and Coun. Joseph Casey felt as long as there were no beer licences in Saanich there would be no hotels.

"Where do Saanich's 41,000 citizens go for their beer now?" asked Coun. Robert Chard.

"I don't know, but that's what I mean. We should keep the business here," replied the reeve.

The reeve noted that if a plebiscite approved sale of beer by the glass, the council would have the control of licensing areas.

Viewing Hours Extended for Captivating Photo Salon

Prints from all over the world are featured in the 18th annual Victoria International Salon of Photography currently housed in Art Gallery of Greater Victoria. Above are just three of the 315 exhibits. The one at left, "Cement Flooring," won Tan Boon-Yean of Singapore the Vancouver Island Chapter Medal Award. Doleful doggy in the centre was captured by B. Kendrick Miller of San Francisco. With an eye on that puddle, the composition is billed as "Not Me." At right is an eagle-eye view of Fifth Avenue, by F. Mansfield Young of Boston, Mass. The salon opened on Oct. 15 and was due to close at the end of this week but the viewing hours have been extended. In addition to regular daytime hours (11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on weekdays) the gallery will be open from 7.30 p.m. to 9.30 p.m. Thursday and Friday and on Sunday from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. and from 7.30 p.m. to 9.30 p.m. The annual event is sponsored by Victoria Camera Club. To select the 315 prints on display two jury panels spent many hours sifting through a total of 2,100 prints and slides submitted by more than 100 photographers from places as far apart as Hong Kong, New Jersey and Vienna. Also on display in the Art Gallery at present is an exhibition of landscape and animal painting by Carl Rungius, considered by many to be the leading North American in this particular field.

Mystic's Advice: 'Get Lost' In Deep Meditation

By NORMAN CIBBENS

Most of us are afraid of being alone with ourselves. We are afraid of solitude. That, it seemed to me, was the message of Maharishi Mahesh Yogi, the Eastern mystic who came to Victoria Monday to preach his gospel of "deep meditation."

What is deep meditation? I tried to discover the answer in a two-hour interview with this happy little man who comes from the Valley of the Saints—high in the mountains of Himalaya.

All I learned was that you have to lose yourself in thinking about your fellow beings. You have to love everything (if that is possible) and throw out all thoughts of revenge, retaliation or self-justification.

"In the Valley of the Saints," he said, "no one matters. We are all part of one central idea—the happiness of everything that lives, everything that has consciousness. You cannot exclude any living thing that has consciousness."

For that reason, perhaps, the Maharishi is a vegetarian. He could not eat anything that had been killed. He loves bird, animal and beast.

What about drink?

The Maharishi said it was very understandable that men and women who had been disappointed or frustrated should enjoy drinking alcohol.

"Many of these," he said, "are people of great sympathy—but their sympathy has been so misunderstood that they retreat from it and take what is really a kind of drug to make them feel happier."

How does drink affect the soul?

The Maharishi believes it may enlarge the imagination, yet have a "blunting" effect on the mind, so that it becomes "cloudy" and not so analytical as it should be.

Drink and drugs, he says, produce the effect that could come from deep meditation—except that they leave you "depressed" afterwards.

A total of $70 in cigarettes was taken from the Oak Bay Boathouse, 1327 Beach Drive, Monday in a break-in reported to Oak Bay police at 8.40 p.m. Thieves had smashed the glass panel of a door to gain entry.

A 31-year-old woman is in fairly good condition at St. Joseph's Hospital today after receiving a fractured leg Monday about 7.40 p.m. when she was struck by a car.

Daphne Bisson, 1120 McClure, was in collision with a car driven by Suzanne Dearman, 2435 Musgrave, at the intersection of McClure and Cook.

The condition of accident victim John Vernon Grant, 1037 Wychbury, was said to be slightly improved today at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

The 45-year-old man suffered a crushed chest Sunday, when his car struck a telephone pole on Esquimalt Road, and was in critical condition.

Oak Bay Liberal M.L.A. Alan Macfarlane will address a meeting of local Liberals at 8 tonight in the St. Andrews Church Hall, Sidney.

He has another speaking engagement Wednesday—a luncheon address to the student body of Victoria College.

City council Thursday will consider a petition by 500 Greater Victoria senior citizens requesting development of a recreational centre for the aged as a centennial project.

The petition was delivered to City Hall Monday by Samuel Last, 1019 Rockland.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Reconstruction and widening of Cloverdale between Douglas and Quadra at a cost of $125,895, will start within a week, Neville Life, Saanich municipal engineer, said today. Council, he said, has approved the project which includes the installation of storm drains, curbs and gutters.

Residents on the street will pay $27,165 towards the project, the municipality the rest.

Mr. Life said a flood of zoning applications are expected once the reconstruction program is completed as the street is a vital link between two main thoroughfares—Douglas and Quadra.

Frederick J. Pritchard, 1286 Pembroke was ordered to post a $250 bond to be of good behavior for one year after he had pleaded guilty earlier to theft of goods under the value of $50.

Police said he took four hubcaps valued at $42 from a car Oct. 15.

R. B. Worley, assistant general manager of the government ferries here, today asked City Hall to tender a civic dinner to about 60 delegates of the Alberta-British Columbia Trans-Canada Highway Association when they meet here Nov. 15. Mr. Worley recently was elected president of the organization.

David Gudmunur Snidal, Work Point, was fined $20 in city police court today after pleading guilty to being a minor in possession of liquor. Police said he was found Oct. 13 at 3 a.m. in the 500 block Cormorant Street with a bottle of rum.

The Victoria Scottish Country Dance Society will begin a series of classes open to the public in Scottish country dancing Friday at 8 p.m. at St. Christopher's School, 2629 Currie Road.

Screams and shouts by a 20-year-old girl scared away a prowler who attacked her on Thompson Avenue Monday about 9 p.m. and knocked her down.

The girl, whose name has not been released by Oak Bay police pending notification of parents, said the man drove off in a car. She was unharmed.

Shelbourne St. Rededication Set for Nov. 11

Invitations have been sent by Saanich to federal, provincial and civic officials to attend a Remembrance Day rededication ceremony for Shelbourne Street.

Shelbourne, already a First World War memorial, will be rededicated as a memorial to the Canadian dead of the Second World War and Korean War as well.

John Tribe, comptroller-treasurer, said the ceremony will start at 3 p.m. at Gore Park on Shelbourne, near Cedar Hill Cross Road.

Ex-Businessman To Try Again For Council Seat

First candidate for one of the four aldermanic posts up for election in December was announced today.

William Hudson, 2161 Sinclair, said he would try for the post again this year.

Last year Mr. Hudson lost his bid for a seat by a few votes after having been declared elected.

A judicial recount gave the seat to Ald. A. W. Toone.

"Several people have asked me to run again since I was so close last time," he said. "I certainly have the time and the willingness to serve the city."

Mr. Hudson, only living charter member of Victoria Gyo Club, has been secretary of that organization the past 25 years. He retired a year ago as office manager of Great West Life Assurance Company.

B.C. First With Outdoor Shelter Plans

Plans for outdoor fallout shelters were sent out today to B.C. civil defence and municipal offices.

The plans will be available to the public by weekend, said a provincial civil defence spokesman.

They were drawn up in Ottawa, but B.C. is the first province to circulate them, he said.

A large book contains a number of variations on a basic concrete or concrete block structure which can be built either partly underground or fully above the earth.

The plans range from small family units to big shelters for as many as 30 persons.

They include shelters designed to withstand blast pressure of from 10 to 30 pounds per square inch. All have special blast proof doors.

The civil defence official said there is no firm estimate of the cost of an outdoor shelter. But it would probably be

New Office Block Planned In City by Vancouver Firm

Choice Property Bought At Douglas, Fort Streets

A Vancouver firm has purchased property at Douglas and Fort for construction of a new office block, it was learned today.

According to reports circulating among downtown businessmen, the three-storey structure would be kitty-corner from the new gold-painted Canada Permanent Mortgage Company.

Robert Bentall, vice-president of Dominion Construction Co. Ltd., said only "no comment" when telephoned in Vancouver regarding the reports. The big mainland firm developed and constructed the recently opened Town and Country Shopping Plaza on Douglas and has tried to develop several other projects here.

Property involved stretches 100 feet along Fort Street and 90 feet along Douglas. It includes Cunningham Drugs, McEwen's Restaurant and Rowe's Fish and Poultry Market.

It is believed that Dominion Construction would build the structure on a lease-purchase arrangement for a financial institution, either a trust company or a bank.

Also injured in the accident which took place at the intersection of Bay Street and Rock Bay Avenue was Kathleen Miranda, the six-year-old daughter of the dead woman. She is in Royal Jubilee Hospital with head injuries. Her condition is described as good.

The driver, whose name is withheld because of his age, testified under the protection of the Canada Evidence Act. He said he had just turned right off Government Street, going west to Bay and was accelerating in second gear at about 25 miles per hour.

He saw two figures in the centre of the road just as the passenger in his car yelled a warning. He swerved but as he did caught the two on his left front fender.

Driver Absolved In Woman's Death

A coroner's jury at noon today exonerated the juvenile driver of a car in an accident that resulted in the death of a Victoria woman Saturday evening.

The jury was out for 23 minutes before returning with the verdict that Sadie Alvina Miranda, common law wife of Edward Courtepatte, 2178 Rock Bay Avenue, came to her death as a direct result of a collision with an auto, and that the driver not be blamed.

ANAEMIA TESTS SCHEDULED FOR HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

Some 840 students in three local high schools will undergo blood tests this week in a national survey on anaemia.

A biochemist from the Federal Department of Health and Welfare, assisted by Greater Victoria Metro Health Board staff, will test students in Victoria, Esquimalt and Oak Bay High Schools.

Parental consent was obtained from each student.

Results of the survey will be co-related with a nationwide search by the federal department for data on the incidence of iron deficiency.

The surveys were launched after a September meeting of the Canadian Council on Nutrition which indicated that anaemia—despite this nation's high standard of living—may be Canada's biggest nutritional problem.

Why Not Do It Yourself And Save Your Dollars?

By PENNY SAVER

You've read in the past week about the new do-it-yourself dry cleaning service in Victoria. And no doubt, if you haven't been in already to see how it works, you're curious about it. I was curious, too, so I set out to see this new and novel installation.

One of the most important features, assuming, like me, that you are not too familiar with doing dry cleaning, is that there is always at least one trained attendant on hand to help. The machines are scientifically designed, too, and a maximum load is advised for economy and efficiency.

You wouldn't like to submit your good clothes to this method? Well... listen to this!

A young bride—very upset, because she found on the day of her marriage that her wedding gown was soiled—went to this do-it-yourself establishment. With the expert advice she received and the efficient method, her gown was clean again and ready to wear, except for a slight pressing, in 45 minutes.

There is absolutely no solution on the premises that could possibly damage clothing. Ninety-five to 97% of all stains can be removed. Very soiled areas of a garment are first lightly sprayed with an air mist spray, (the solution is literally hungry for moisture, and draws out the spray as well as dirt and odor during the cleaning cycle). Then the load is placed in the machine.

Loads are approximately eight pounds, but they are measured more by bulk than by weight. An average is four skirts, two dresses, two sweaters, and one dressing gown. Where else can you have all these things cleaned for only $2?

During the approximate 45-minute period your clothes are in the machine, there is two cleaning cycles, and several drying cycles. They come out beautifully clean. Put them on hangers right away, and they will need very little or no pressing. Amazing isn't it?

I'm on the run right now with a load to be cleaned. You coming too?—Call Penny EV 2-3131.

DEAR ABBY

Do SOMETHING, Lady!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I was faithfully married to a man for 13 years. I did not look at another man because I was satisfied with just him. The feeling was mutual. Then a pretty young redhead started to work in his office. She threw herself at him, and he fell for her. Now he says he can't give her up, but he still loves me. In other words, he wants both of us. My world has fallen apart. I can't give him up either. This has gone on for almost twelve months. What is the solution?

OLD FAITHFUL

DEAR OLD FAITHFUL: I am sure you have heard the fable about the donkey that starved to death, while standing between two haystacks, because he couldn't make up his mind which one to eat. Move your haystack, Lady, and the donkey won't have

TODAY'S RECIPE

PUMPKIN-SCOTCH PIE

One and one-quarter cups fine gingersnap crumbs, 1/2 cup butter (melted), 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon cloves, 1/2 cup canned or mashed cooked pumpkin, 1 1/2 cups cold milk, 1 package butterscotch instant pudding mix, 1/2 pint (1 1/2 cups) whipping cream, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg, 2 tablespoons chopped toasted walnuts.

For the crust: Prepare gingersnap crumbs; drizzle with melted butter and combine thoroughly. Press crumbs evenly into a 9-inch pie plate. Chill.

For the filling: Measure cinnamon and cloves into a bowl; blend in pumpkin. Gradually stir in milk. Add instant pudding mix and beat one minute with rotary beater. Pour into prepared pie shell. Chill until set. At serving time, beat cream until softly stiff; beat in sugar and nutmeg. Spread over pie; sprinkle with walnuts. (Makes six to eight servings).

HOW TO PUT A STOP TO EARLY-AGING SIGNS

Even the most skillful make-up can't hide flaky cheeks, crow's feet, little lines. But once you realize that these early-aging signs are caused by lack of natural moisture within the skin, you can take effective action! Use FOND'S DRY SKIN CREAM. This famous cream contains Allantoin—a remarkable substance that starts to repair dry skin in just 10 minutes! Allantoin gently floats off the lifeless surface cells... opens the way for FOND's rich moisturized lanolin to penetrate deep-down into parched tissues. Almost overnight, your complexion becomes softer, smoother, younger-looking! Get FOND'S DRY SKIN CREAM—use it regularly. In jar or tube, wherever cosmetics are sold.

such a tough time making a decision.

DEAR ABBY: I certainly do agree with that person who wrote in to say she was disgusted with the way the merchants are rushing the seasons. In July I was invited to a wedding to be held in August, and I couldn't find a decent summer dress to save my neck. Once, when I tried to buy overshoes in March, the clerks looked at me like I was crazy. There was snow on the ground and they were showing "summer sandals". They start in with the Christmas decorations so early that they have pushed Thanksgiving right off the calendar. Where is everyone rushing to?

GOOD and MAD.

DEAR ABBY: We have a problem with our mother. She smokes all the time. She tells us how bad cigarettes are for our health, but she lights one after the other, and coughs and smokes and smokes and coughs. She is not very careful, either. Almost every chair and table has little burns in it where she put down her cigarettes and forgot them. We love

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Once Weighed In at 220,
Now at 160, Shooting for 120

The following letter states very simply and sincerely some of the benefits of weight reduction, and also the attitude which is necessary to succeed. This reader says:

"I started dieting in January, 1961. I weighed 220 pounds. I was so miserable that I could hardly breathe. My muscles ached and I would get up in the morning just as tired as when I went to bed.

"Now, in August, 1961, after dieting, I weigh 160 pounds. After a loss of 60 pounds I feel like a woman again. I can even go swimming and not feel conspicuous. I went from a size 24 1/2 dress to a size 18.

"If I can do it, others can. I just decided that eating wasn't everything. I am still working toward my goal of 120 pounds.

"I am writing this letter so that I may inspire others. Please print it in your column, but omit my name."

It is inspiring to read what another woman has done. It makes it seem much more possible to do it yourself, if you need to, doesn't it? It seems to me that the secret of this reader's success is reflected in her statement, "I just decided that eating wasn't everything." As much as we enjoy it, after all, eating ISN'T everything. In fact, if it is overdone it can spoil some of life's greatest satisfactions. It can lead to lack of self-confidence, to disinterest in personal appearance and to a shy, retiring personality.

It also can lead to fatigue, that great dampener of enthusiasm and vibrant living. I have a friend who is about 30 pounds overweight. He experienced such devastating fatigue that he feared he might have heart trouble and was to one of the world's famous specialists. The expert found nothing wrong with his heart, but told him that he would lose his fatigue if he lost his excess poundage. My friend now is working on this project, and is feeling better with every pound he loses. You have to count calories to lose weight.

If you would like to have my calorie chart, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 36 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

SEW SIMPLE WITH Eunice Farmer

"My Necklines Ravel Out"

"Dear Eunice: Your column has been quite a help to me in my sewing activities for myself and my two girls in 4-H.

"How can I prevent slashed necklines and pockets from raveling out? I sew the seams twice as directed on the patterns, before I slash, but after the first or second wearing, they begin to pull out."

Mrs. A.J.W.

Dear Mrs. A.J.W.: The type of fabric you are working with has a lot to do with the remedy for this situation. If your fabric is rather heavy, you may press a small circle of "press on tape" on the wrong side of your garment at the place to be slashed. These reinforce by machine stitching with a small stitch, one-half-inch on each side of the point to be slashed. This should prevent pulling out.

If your fabric is rather light weight, baste a small piece of hem tape under the slashed point and proceed as above.

Possibly the biggest help would be to tell you to use a small machine stitch at this point when stitching your garment. You must stitch as close as possible to the slash, however; if you stitch too far in, you will have a pucker.

Challenge in Solving Inner Space Problems

In the excitement over the "great new vistas" that are opening for us living in the more fortunate lands" and the "challenge facing mankind to the exploration of outer space," it is easy to forget there are "hundreds of millions of people who are quite unaware of the existence of outer space."

"All their energies are being devoted to the problem of survival in inner space," Mrs. Phyllis Graveley reminded the members of Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club at a supper meeting Monday evening.

Mrs. Graveley, executive director of the YW-YMCA and the 1960 United Nations Fellow of Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, described the function of the Food and Agriculture Organization of United Nations and urged the importance of its work amongst peoples of "less privileged countries than Canada."

Stays for Tea

Mrs. George R. Pearkes opened recent successful bazaar of the St. Patrick's Council, Catholic Woman's League, held in the school auditorium and stayed to have tea with Fr. M. Costelloe, Sister Mary Petronella, Mrs. A. J. Romano, general convener, and Mrs. J. H. Moreau, president.

Conveners were: Tea room, Mrs. J. C. O'Connor; aprons and fancy work, Mrs. P. Scherr; candy, Mrs. C. Lawless; baby clothes, Mrs. R. Doyle and Mrs. H. O'Neill; lucky seven, Mrs. E. H. Stoffer; used clothes, Mrs. M. K. Larsen; home cooking, Mrs. Frank Fischer; harvest stall, Mrs. B. T. Saunders; white elephant, Mrs. M. Hall-Patch; fish pond and penny bazaar, Mrs. L. Gill; religious articles, Mrs. J. E. O'Connell; Christmas gifts, Mrs. E. V. Jones; and Mrs. M. Davies, snack bar.

Color Keynotes Fashion Story at Art Gallery

Color is the keynote in the fashion story for fall and winter. And color was the theme at a fashion show and dessert party held in the Greater Victoria Art Gallery on Monday. Party was sponsored by the Women's Committee to the Greater Victoria Art Gallery. Mrs. R. T. McKean opened the affair and introduced Mrs. H. R. Turner, the commentator.

An outstanding ensemble in green was modelled by Vicky Arnold. It was a looped pure mohair softly tailored suit that featured braid buttons and a straight skirt. Large black wide brim, high crown hat by Baron, and long black gloves completed the picture.

Cisa of Italy, designer of fine knits, excelled with a black knit suit, teamed with the elegant sparkle of a lame overblouse, matched to the facing of the jacket. Worn by Patti di Castri, it presented the dressed-down elegance, so right for Victoria social affairs. Suit was accessorized with black hat, and long black gloves.

Fashion houses of the world have decreed that evening apparel this winter will be the utmost in elegance and glitter. A sophisticated version of printed lame shown by Diane Miller, was received with much applause. The gently flared skirt, and long blouson, in soft unburned shades, were definite marks of Paris.

Fall bazaar, Colwood Women's Institute, Thursday, 2.30 to 4.30 p.m., Colwood Community Hall. Sewing, home cooking, plants, candy and white elephant stalls.

CAC to Start Comparative Testing Consumer Goods

Following the annual meeting of Canadian Association of Consumers held in September in Toronto, the association has a "new look"—a new name, a membership open to men and women living in Canada, plans for a national conference on consumer affairs to be held in Toronto in 1962, and in response to popular demand, a program for comparative testing of consumer goods.

This was explained by Mrs. E. F. McCloskey, past provincial president of British Columbia, at a meeting of the local branch of the CAC in Victoria Library music room Monday afternoon.

"It is expected testing will start with small items and progress as membership and finances permit," Mrs. McCloskey said.

Up until now comparative testing given in consumer reports has been based on goods made in the United States.

"There are differences even when the same goods are produced—as they often are—in Canada. Therefore the need for Canadian-based testing is imperative," she said.

CAC members may be called upon to participate in the buying of articles to be tested and to assist in taste surveys. It is hoped to interest academic people trained in the field of testing and to employ the services of existing test laboratories.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. George Forrest and thanked by Mrs. Elizabeth Mills, local branch president. Mrs. A. B. Young presided.

Prior to the meeting, members of the local branch executive board gathered at King Arthur's Round Table for a no-host luncheon in honor of Mrs. McCloskey, who came from Vancouver to give her address.

Hundreds Attend Fete at St. Margaret's

Girls of St. Margaret's School gave an extra day to the school on Saturday—and thoroughly enjoyed it! They were joined by hundreds of parents, friends and "old girls," including Mrs. George R. Pearkes who was there to open the ninth annual Fun Fair of the parents' auxiliary.

Classrooms, gym and offices were transformed into "under-the-sea" wonderlands with shimmering blue and green streamers giving the illusion of water, complete with giant colored fish.

There were long-tressed mermaids, octopus, ship's wheels and bells, arranged against a backdrop of nets. Decorations had been arranged and made by the students.

Pony rides on the grounds drew an unending line of would-be cowboys—and girls.

There was a fashion show arranged by Mrs. Jack Barraclough. Fashions were from the T. Eaton Company. Helen Beirnes was commentator and Mrs. Cecily Collins, co-ordinator. Students from all 12 grades acted as models.

Stealer of limelight was seven year-old Debbie Howell when, blonde pony tail bobbing, she appeared in the newest of "hostess" dresses.

Another show-stopper was Julie Hight when she modelled one of the new ponchos in butternut brown shade that was zippered at neckline and had its own hood. Other models were Michelle, Darimont, Denise Chatler, Patty Moore, Sandra Howell, Faith Graham, Gillian Lockyer, Marilyn Mair, Jane Cameron, Denise Wilde and Diane Beirnes.

Geoff Edgelow wielded the hammer at a special auction. General convener was Mrs. Roderick Clack, assisted by Mrs. Norman Lockyer. Other conveners were Mrs. S. Orrick, Mrs. J. Alexis, Mrs. R. Wainwright, Mrs. S. Park, Mrs. E. A. McGowan, Mrs. D. Shepherd, Miss P. Davy, Miss F. Smith and Messrs. H. McKeever and J. Barraclough.

Tea was served in the boarding school dining room, convener being Mrs. R. R. Wilde. Presiding at the head table were Miss Ruth Jones, Mrs. M. E. Godson, Mrs. J. A. Roberts and Mrs. William Flett.

Sum of $1,308.05 was realized and will be used to provide two bursaries for senior and junior schools, extra games equipment and reference library books.

RUSSELL WALKS OUT OF CAVIAR AND TEA

LONDON (UPI) — Philosopher Lord Bertrand Russell delivered a protest at the Soviet Embassy today over sherry, caviar and tea, but left early in disgust over the "old rigamarole and propaganda."

As leader of Britain's anti-nuclear "committee of 100," Russell met the Soviet charge d'affaires for an hour to protest Monday's big Russian nuclear explosion in the Arctic.

"I came away," said the 89-year-old Russell, "I did not see much point in staying."

He said the embassy official was very friendly and courteous in insisting that the blast was a defensive move against American threats.

"Then he got back to the old rigamarole and propaganda. The Russians were so innocent. Never had there been such innocence in the history of mankind," Russell said.

'Siphoning Off' Plan Under Way For Old Schools

Additions were not proposed to city schools built in the last century because they will soon have to be replaced, school superintendent John Gough said Monday.

He was referring to criticism that no new construction was planned at old elementary schools such as South Park and North Ward.

School boundaries have been re-shaped to siphon off some of the enrolment pressure on these schools, built in 1894 until they can be torn down and replaced.

Mr. Gough, noting criticism by Ald. A. I. Curtis and city manager C. C. Wyatt that Victoria would bear an unfair share of the $3,755,000 school bylaw up for a vote Saturday, pointed out that the outlying municipalities will have to help replace the old city schools in the near future.

More Study Planned On Pensioners' Bonus

Discussion of a proposed scheme for supplementary pension bonuses for pensioners and widows of pensioners who retired before April 1, 1957, will be continued at the next meeting of Oak Bay council Nov. 6.

Coun. John Watts proposed a bonus for pensioners amounting to $1 a month for every year of contribution to the municipal pension fund up to a maximum of $25 a month. This ceiling would not apply if the total monthly pension was less than $30.

For widows of municipal pensioners the bonus should amount to 70 cents a month for every year her husband contributed up to a maximum of $17.50. Ceiling would not apply if the total pension was less than $35.

Coun. Watts said the scheme, if adopted, would cost the municipality a maximum of $462 a year if all 19 of the persons affected decided to participate.

Of these, 17 are pensioners retired prior to April 1, 1957, and two are widows of former municipal employees who retired before that date.

Labor Chief Raps Decision by Court

VANCOUVER (CP) — Action of the B.C. Supreme Court in upholding what the labor movement described as "restrictive labor legislation" which has not enhanced the court in the eyes of labor, President Robert Smeal of the B.C. Federation of Labor said Monday.

Speaking to the federation's annual convention, Mr. Smeal referred to a decision by Mr. Justice N. W. Whittaker which upheld the validity of Labor Relations Act amendments passed last spring forbidding the use of union dues for political purposes.

The bill was challenged in

B.C. Supreme Court by the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union (CLC), which now has appealed the decision.

"That section of Bill 42 which deprives trade union members of the right to vote past of their own money for political purposes... must never be tolerated by the trade union movement," Mr. Smeal said.

"The judgment handed down by Mr. Justice Whittaker has done little indeed to enhance the position of our courts and to earn them the respect of the labor movement."

"There is something seriously wrong with our society when an obvious and despicable action by a political party to attempt to maintain itself in office by denying a section of the population one of its basic and inalienable rights to freedom of association is upheld by the Supreme Court and labor arguments against the legislation remain unanswered in their judgment."

"I am confident, however, that the Supreme Court of Canada will take a more serious view of the issues involved when this case comes before it next year, as Social Credit legislation destroying civil liberties has been thrown out by the Supreme Court before and we trust it will happen again."

Real Estate Abuses Blasted by Unionist

VANCOUVER (CP) — A trade unionist said Monday the nearby municipality of Surrey fast is becoming Canada's largest slum area because of the "premeditated" legalized swindles in real estate transactions by land and investment speculators.

Barney McGuire, a member of the Real Estate Salesmen's Union, told the convention of the B.C. Federation of Labor the abuses "are being aided and abetted by the provincial Real Estate Act."

Appointment of employer representatives to administer the act and rule on violation, he said, "is the same thing as appointing 15 thieves to pass judgment on another thief."

Mr. McGuire said many Surrey buyers were offered a $7,000 three-bedroom home for little or no down payment. The sale was mortgaged over 25 years and final cost to the buyer exceeded $25,000.

Many people just walked out and left the home when they discovered the facts. The same people, unable to afford the house in the first place, voted against municipal money bylaws.

Delegates to the sixth annual convention of the British Columbia Federation of Labor (CLC) have approved a policy conference of all affiliated unions to be held here in December.

The 100,000-member federation's executive council told delegates Monday that interlocking industry and legislation favorable to the vast corporations in the province has given employers increasing power.

President Robert Smeal said, "There has been no genuine attempt on the part of both industry and government to assume their responsibilities towards the workers, and it now is incumbent on the trade union movement to ensure that the responsibility is accepted by those who created a shameful waste of human resources."

LITTLE LONG CANCER AS S. AFRICANS PUFF

PRETORIA (Reuters)—Although white South Africans are the heaviest cigarette smokers in the world, the chance of their contracting lung cancer is less than half that of smokers in the more industrialized and smog-ridden cities of Europe.

A report on medical research into lung disease published in the Journal of Medical Proceedings, says there now is a formidable mass of evidence which casts doubt on the hypothesis that cigarettes are an important cause of lung cancer.

The report adds:

"The protagonists of cigarette smoking as a cause of lung cancer have steadily been forced to shift their ground and to recognize the importance if not the overshadowing importance of air pollutants other than those due to cigarette smoke."

Hospitals' Drugs Costly to Public

TORONTO (CP)—The price the consumer pays for drugs subsidizes the lower prices at which drugs are offered to hospitals, institutions and government departments, John Turnbull, secretary-manager of the Canadian Pharmaceutical Association, told the restrictive trade practices commission Monday.

Comparing manufacturers' prices to institutions and to retail pharmacists, Mr. Turnbull emphasized institutions are able to reduce their costs of drugs by requiring manufacturers to bid for volume orders.

"The retail pharmacist purchases drugs at prices set by the manufacturer," he said. The commission, starting the second week of its sittings in Toronto, will resume study today of the brief from the association, a professional body representing all Canadian pharmacists.

The Canadian Society of Hospital Pharmacists urged a committee to devise non-proprietary names and assign them to new drugs.

NAME CONFUSION

It said confusion over the naming of drugs arises partly from the number of new products coming onto the market, many of them compounds of various basic ingredients.

Prof. J. L. Summers, a pharmacist at the University Hospital in Saskatoon, gave figures to show the cost of drugs at that hospital has risen only slightly during the last five years.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Natalie Wood's measurements are — hold your breath, now — an unsensational 34-21-33.

So a gal doesn't have to be statuesque today to be about the most important young actress around. Standing a towering 5-2, weighing a colossal 98, Natalie's no flatbie, nobody can say she's unendowed. But she could, if she wishes, write a small book entitled, "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Looking Like Jayne Mansfield."

"Natalie only wears a size 5 dress—even models wear size 8," a friend said yesterday.

Even Marilyn Monroe hasn't had two big pictures open in three N.Y. theatres in one week ("West Side Story" and "Splendor in the Grass")... and "man-wise" as the girls say... O.K.!

I'll skip Elia Kazan, her director in "Splendor," who was just giving her a directorial type kiss when I dropped into her hotel suite.

And then came, very casually, her handsome rascal expert and escort, Warren Beatty, brother of Shirley MacLaine.

SURPRISED

Natalie, who was in a very attractive long red satin hostess gown, is a little surprised that everybody else is surprised about her being an actress.

"I was nominated for an Oscar for 'Rebel Without a Cause' six years ago when I was 17," she points out.

NATALIE WOOD ... 34-21-33

Mitzi Gaynor may be kidding but she insisted at El Morocco the other morning that she'll be opening a Peppermint Lounge Twist quarters in Hollywood in a couple of weeks, perhaps "Mitzi's Twist Parlor." Mitzi, who's been studying the Twist here at the Peppermint figures Hollywood'll love it.

She told Morris Lansburgh, Las Vegas and Miami Beach hotelier, that he should get busy and bring the Twist to Miami, Chubby Checker, 19-year-old genius who brought out the song, is evidently kind of a character. He reported the Peppermint Lounge so crowded that there were cries of "Help, help!" from people who didn't want to get in—they wanted to get out.

Perle Mesta's flying to visit old friend Sam Rayburn. "He'll be around a long time," she predicts. Joan Crawford watched a preview of the NBC TV show, "The Ziegfeld Touch," pointed to Marilyn Lovell who's in the Camelot supper club show, and said, "That girl is going to be a big star."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL

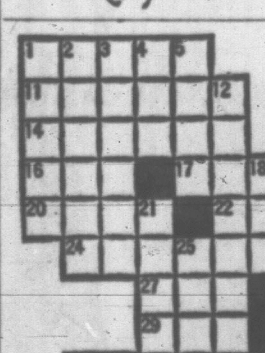

Eddie Fisher phoned Milton Blackstone from Rome, asked him to send over his accompanist, Eddie Samuels. ... Comics Marty Allen and Steve Rossi'll be screen-tested next month. ... Singer Doris, opening at La Fontaine, got flowers from Ava Gardner's former beau, bullfighter Dominquin. ... Olivia de Havilland may have the lead opposite Henry Fonda on B'way in "The Last of the Wine."

David Merrick ordered flu shots for his B'way casts. ... Ralph Meeker and his date asked to sit in the Living Room's upstairs room—where they were cozily all by themselves. ... Joan Crawford, who boasts Pepsi Cola, kidded Noel Coward about plugging Coca Cola twice in his "Sail Away."

EARL'S PEARLS: A two-dollar bill comes in very handy—if, for instance, you want to buy a dollar's worth of something.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Someone mentioned a shady businessman: "He's the kind of guy who'd sell used coloring books to children."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Comic Jackie Kannon, working in Dallas, says he had to cut out all his pokes about credit cards: "Texans never heard of them." That's earl, brother.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own homes without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved, and while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia, and of the second question a Hammond Atlas of Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Joe Tanalski, age 13, of Del Mar, Calif., for his question:

Will the Sun Ever Burn Out?

Last week Andy explained some of the modern theories concerning the life story of a star. This subject is so vast, both in size and in time, that our minds find it very hard to grasp. A few facts about the scope of our own particular star, the sun, may help to make the subject more real to us.

The sun, like all the stars, had a beginning and will some day come to the end of its long and brilliant career.

The earth is estimated to be about four billion years old and during all that time the sun has been pouring forth its energy with great extravagance. It is perhaps a billion years older than its children, the planets. If it were made of coal, this radiant star would have burned to ashes in a few thousand years. However, it is a nuclear furnace, ceaselessly converting matter into energy. Its fuel is hydrogen gas and every second some four billion tons of matter are converted into energy and radiated out into space.

It is estimated that, since the seething furnace began, enough matter to make several planets has been turned into energy. However, the sun can afford to squander its fuel at this rate for long ages to come. The planets, the comets, and all the sun's children contain only a fraction of one per cent of the matter in the sun. Some experts estimate that it has enough fuel to burn for 12 billion years and others say that the sun's fuel supply could last another 30 billion years.

The great furnace, of course, is a ball of seething gases. Its diameter is 860,000 miles and its volume is about one and a third million times greater than the volume of the earth. Its surface temperature is about 6,000 degrees Centigrade and its seething interior is around 20 million degrees.

Each square centimeter radiates 1.8 horsepower day and night. About one part in two billion parts of its total energy falls upon our earth and this radiant energy supports all life on our planet.

Energy Supports All Life

The nuclear furnace of the sun is thought to have some-what the same reaction which takes place in a hydrogen bomb. Atoms of hydrogen are built into larger atoms of helium and the energy released is waste material from this nuclear fusion. It is believed that the process takes place in small units involving four atoms of hydrogen. A helium atom requires most, but not all, of the particles in the four hydrogen atoms. In the seething nuclear furnace, these surplus particles are converted into radiant energy.

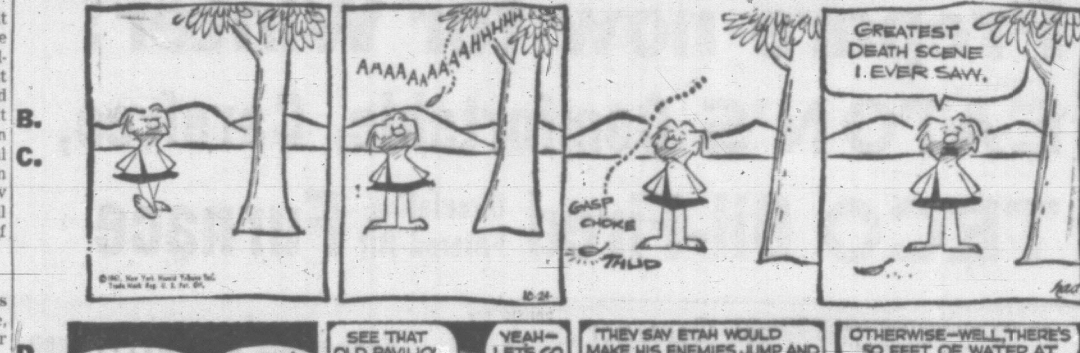

An earth year is the time it takes our world to orbit the sun. The sun, with its children, is traveling a vast orbit through the Galaxy at a speed of 135 miles a second. It makes one of these orbits in a cosmic year, which is equal to 200 million earth years. On this scale, the sun is now about 25 years old and well may live to a ripe old age of 150 cosmic years.

Andy sends a Hammond's Library Atlas to Paula Pope, age 10, of Gastonia, N.C., for her question:

Where do we find precious pearls?

A precious pearl is made from start to finish inside an oyster. Any oyster can create a pearl and there are oyster beds off countless warm and cool shores around the world. Only the pearl oyster, however, can make a gleaming, iridescent pearl of gem quality and this fellow is very choosy about where he lives. His beds are found only in a few warm, shallow seas. These gems are called Oriental pearls, though not all of them are produced in the Orient.

There is a vast ring of pearl oyster beds in the Persian Gulf. To give the pearls time to form, only one-seventh of this area is harvested each year. Other precious pearls are taken from the Red Sea, from waters around Burma, Ceylon and far across the Pacific around the Philippines and other south sea islands. Pearl oysters also are busy off the shores of northern Australia and Lower California.

Castro Claims U.S. Killed Cuban Worker at Navy Base

HAVANA (AP)—Cuba officially accused the United States today of killing a Cuban worker at Guantanamo naval base and demanded that American officers be delivered to Cuban authorities for trial for the crime.

The Cuban press and officials reported last week that Ruben Lopez Sabanigo was arrested and tortured to death at Guantanamo because of his leanings toward Premier Fidel Castro.

Protest meetings have been held in several Cuban cities, and Castro announced last week he was giving Lopez a pension. All workers were asked to contribute one penny each to build her and her nine children a house.

U.S. officials have reported that Lopez' body was found inside the base a few days ago and that an investigation is being conducted.

Meanwhile, Premier Castro said today his foes recently planned an attempt to kill him which did not come off.

In a 2 1/2-hour speech broadcast from Havana, Castro said

"counter-revolutionaries armed with bazookas and heavy weapons" were in an apartment near Cuba's "White House" the last time he spoke there.

"They didn't shoot," he said. "I don't know why. Perhaps they were afraid."

MAC REJECTS PROPOSAL HE ACCOMPANY QUEEN

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Macmillan today rejected a suggestion in the House of Commons that he accompany the Queen on her visit to Ghana next month.

The suggestion was made by Labor member Woodrow Wyatt, who said Macmillan was putting the Queen in the "humiliating position of appearing to condone this disgraceful state of affairs in Ghana" because she was unable to say anything in public to the contrary.

If he went along, Wyatt suggested, he could make a speech which might indicate the disapproval in Britain of what was going on in Ghana.

Oak Bay Hotel Wins Suit

Mr. Justice R. A. Wootton dismissed a claim for damages against the Oak Bay Beach Hotel, in a judgment delivered in B.C. Assize Court Monday afternoon.

He dismissed the claim of Mrs. Florence Ashworth, 2455 Beach, for general and special damages resulting from a fall in the hotel lounge on June 12, 1960, in which she suffered a broken hip.

Mrs. Ashworth claimed that the flooring in the lounge was "dangerously slippery."

Mr. Justice Wootton found that the hotel had taken "reasonable care" in looking after its guests, and dismissed the action with costs against Mrs. Ashworth.

It could forestall a rebellion in the ranks of the Social Credit Party at a convention this weekend.

LOOKS DECEIVE

This 'sweet-looking, smooth-talking little lady', aged 71, Mrs. Betty Caroline Taylor, looks anything like a description applied to her Monday by a Los Angeles detective—"one of the major dealers in narcotics on the Pacific Coast." But a Federal Court judge sentenced her to seven years in jail and a $20,000 fine. (AP Wirephoto.)

RIFT WIDENS

Chou Snubs Russians—Flies Home

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Soviet leaders were faced today with a new snub from Communist China following the sudden departure for home of Chinese Premier Chou En-lai.

Observers saw Chou's abrupt departure from the Soviet party congress here as a sign of a worsening quarrel between the two countries over bitter Russian attacks on tiny Albania for following "Stalinist" policies.

Chou rebuked the Soviet leaders last week for bringing their quarrel with Albania into the open and told them that disputes between Communist countries should be settled in private.

Despite the rebuke and the new snub Monday, Chou was seen off at the airport Monday night by Premier Khrushchev and other top Soviet officials.

No reason was given for his sudden departure. Chou arrived back in Peking this morning and was greeted at the airport by Communist party chief Mao Tse-tung and by the Chinese head of state, Liu Shao-chi.

SAM'S STRIP STARTS ON PAGE 20 TODAY

Times readers this week are introduced to a new comic strip.

Created by Mort Walker and Jerry Dumas it began in Monday night's issue—well, it didn't actually begin, but it started with a suggestion that something was coming. The new comic is entitled "Sam's Strip" and about the only thing to do is bear with it and find out how it turns out. Today's strip is on Page 20.

TRIBUTE TO 'CENTURY'S BEST'

The United Nations flag was lowered to "half mast" today by Mayor Percy Scurrell at the Legislative Buildings, watched by members of the Victoria UN Association, in memory of Dag Hammarskjöld. After a minute's silence for the late UN secretary-general the mayor paid tribute to him as one of the "outstanding citizens of the century."

Labor Charges Power 'Stymied'

(See Also Page 3)

VANCOUVER (CP)—The provincial government has deliberately stymied the development of the Columbia River, the B.C. Federation of Labor (CLC) was told today.

A committee report on natural resources, presented during the federation's annual meeting, said federal-provincial bickering over the method of carrying out the $458,000,000 hydro-electric project on the Columbia has produced "a classic example of stalemate."

It added that the B.C. Energy Board "stacked the deck" against the Columbia by not including the benefits of cheaper federal financing and downstream benefits when it undertook a comprehensive comparison of development costs on the Columbia and the Peace Rivers.

DIFFERENT FORMULA

"The energy board instructed its engineering consultants to use a different formula in the case of the Peace, calculating the potential extra load for new industry, the loads to be assumed as 60 per cent Peace River and 40 per cent Vancouver."

"This is a completely unrealistic assumption to make the Peace River cost look more favorable."

The committee urged the federal and provincial governments to again meet to study Columbia development.

"If this is not done, Premier W. A. C. Bennett can tie up the Columbia and there is no legal means by which the people can force him to negotiate a settlement."

TRUTH CONCEALED

The committee charged Premier Bennett "has condoned the juggling of cost figures" on the Columbia and Peace until people hardly know what is truth and what isn't."

"He would export our cheapest power to the United States and the job potential of our people with it."

The committee report, adopted by the convention, went on record as against construction of the High

Arrow and Libby dams because, it said, alternative plans would provide the same benefits. It also was against the export of power, and it called for an immediate start on construction of the Columbia under the B.C. Power Commission.

PRESIDENT

Gen. Cemal Gursel today was named president of an emergency national front government to run Turkey following the indecisive elections of Oct. 15. His appointment followed 18 hours of bargaining between the four main party leaders during which army leaders threatened a coup d'état. World Protests Reds' Big Blast

Anger, Not Fear Chief Reaction

LONDON (CP)—Protests and demonstrations spread throughout the non-Communist world today against Soviet detonation of a giant hydrogen bomb.

Government leaders, scientists and newspapers, especially in Western Europe and Japan, expressed shock and horror at the 30-to-50-megaton blast set off in the Arctic Monday.

India's Prime Minister Nehru said he was "deeply pained and shocked."

The Russian people themselves were unaware of the blast, not reported either by the Soviet government or press.

In Italy, tens of thousands of high school and university students marched out of classes and paraded through streets in a dozen cities in protest against the Soviet blast.

In Manila, more than 7,500 Filipino college students were reported to have signed a petition urging the Soviet Union to halt further tests.

But British Defence Minister Harold Watkinson said preliminary evidence from the huge Soviet blast and its accompanying smaller one "suggests a yield of the order of 30 megatons."

Japanese were alarmed by a warning from experts there that highly radioactive rain and dust from the blast would reach their shores around Friday.

The Tokyo government called a conference of scientists to decide whether the expected levels of radiation would be dangerous.

RUSSIA GETS 'BACKFIRE' OF FALLOUT

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union is getting a backfire of radioactive fallout today from its mammoth nuclear explosion, U.S. weather bureau scientists reported.

They said the fallout was carried on winds blowing south to southeast over Russia.

The massive blast, triggered Monday in the atmosphere over the Novaya Zemlya region in the Arctic, may have been the 50-megaton explosion that Soviet Premier Khrushchev announced the Russians would test. But the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission said it doubts that the detonation was that big.

There has been no word from Russia on the explosion.

Robert List, chief of the U.S. weather bureau's atmospheric radioactivity project, said Russia "would get more of the immediate fallout" from the explosion than other areas.

Since it was likely the bomb was fired high in the atmosphere, List said only a small fraction of the fallout would sift down immediately.

The greater portion of it would be sucked into the stratosphere and would come down perhaps next spring, he said.

But considering the size of blast, said List, the amount of radioactive debris blowing over Russia would be appreciable.

Nobel prize-winning chemist Dr. Harold C. Urey said in a New York television interview that the fallout will be "unpleasant but not critical—not at all." He did not elaborate.

The Soviet Union Monday also fired an underwater nuclear blast of low yield about two hours after the big explosion in the atmosphere.

Queen Voices U.K. Regrets At A-Tests

LONDON (Reuters)—Queen Elizabeth said today Britain "deeply regrets" the unilateral Soviet resumption of nuclear weapons tests.

The Queen, mother of three children, made the statement in a government-written speech from the throne closing parliament's current session. It was read for her by a royal commission of peers.

In her statement Queen Elizabeth said:

"My government have worked for a resumption of negotiations on general disarmament. They have also striven for international agreement on the discontinuance, under effective control, of all tests of nuclear weapons."

"They deeply regret that the Soviet government should have initiated the resumption of these tests."

Skid-Row Millionaire Nabbed With Six Drug-Addict Derelicts

NEW YORK (AP)—A millionaire who used his fortune to help derelicts, faced arraignment in felony court today on charges that he fed and housed six drug addicts in his Harlem shelter.

John S. Cram, 51, a former student at Princeton and Oxford Universities, was arrested in a raid on the shelter Monday and taken into custody along with six derelicts who were charged with possession of narcotics.

A friend said that from his college days Cram has been deeply concerned with poverty and has devoted his time and money to relieving the poor.

Cram told police he had been feeding and sheltering vagrants for about five years. At first, he handed out money, but he found that many of the recipients used it to get drunk. So he hit on the idea of the shelter.

JOHN S. CRAM
... he meant well.

He said he paid $200 a month rent and spent about $100 a day to care for the vagrants.

Police quoted Cram as saying he was aware some of the men used narcotics but he did not know it was against the law to shelter an addict.

Cram was charged with having permitted his premises to be used for the congregation of narcotics addicts and with possession of narcotics paraphernalia.

As he was led to a cell, Cram told a policeman: "Nobody looks out for drug addicts. There will be nobody to feed them tonight."

Forest Industry in Deep Trouble

by GORDON BELL

Times Business Editor

All last week — National Forest Products Week — residents of B.C. heard how important the forest industry was to this province's economy.

They heard how 40 cents of every dollar earned comes from the industry, that one person in seven is directly employed in the industry and that the 80,000 forest industry jobs create another 180,000 jobs in other industries.

But while the forest industry is in trouble and that is a matter of concern to all of us, the industry was well publicized during the week, there was far too little attention paid to another aspect — the fact that the forest industry in B.C. is in deep trouble.

Last Thursday, in Vernon, J. R. Nicholson, president of the Council of B.C. Forest Industries of B.C., in a speech that received little notice, laid it on the line that "the time has come for all who are interested in the continued prosperity of B.C. to stop taking its forest industry for granted."

What the minister seemed to suggest was that the high price of British Columbia lumber, the factor that has made it non-competitive in many foreign markets, could be easily adjusted.

HIGH COSTS
The problem lies much deeper than that, as Mr. Nicholson made clear at Vernon. It is not high profits but high costs which plague British Columbia forest industries.

And one of the two main factors in making it a high-cost operation can be laid directly at the door of Mr. Williston and his colleagues.

In the past decade government charges as a cost of operation in the B.C. forest industry have increased by 149 per cent.

At the same time the capital cost of construction and operation has also increased by 40 per cent and labor costs have increased by two-thirds.

These are the things that have made B.C., with 60 per cent of Canada's softwood supply, Canada's highest production cost area.

While B.C.'s costs of production have been losing markets for its forest products, other areas—Alberta, Saskatchewan, Idaho, Montana—with far inferior species of trees, have been able to open their forests and undersell B.C.

What's the answer? Is it as Mr. Williston suggests, to cut profits further, which would mean eliminating profits? The end result of this would simply be to eliminate the industry—or at least those segments of it which are unprofitable.

Or is Mr. Nicholson's suggestion more sensible?

"If we want to stay in production and provide jobs, must we not find ways of reducing the cost of stumpage, logging taxes and other government charges? Do not we also have to reduce costs by more efficient operations and so maintain employment capacity?"

Further expansion for Laurentide Finance Corp. Ltd. of Vancouver—formerly Imperial Investments—is predicted by president Peter Paul Saunders who said the company is considering buying "a number" of U.S. loan and finance companies.

First move into the U.S. for Laurentide came this spring when it obtained control of Mercantile Acceptance of California.

The planned expansion, Mr. Saunders said, estimated would boost receivables by about $40 million. Laurentide would generate between $25-$30 million of expansion funds internally and go to the market for the rest.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Speculative Issues, Industrials Gain

Industrials and speculative shares were widespread. Steel shares recovered after opening a few pence lower.

Gold shares eased under small selling.

In the foreign market Greek bonds improved but dollar stocks reflected the overnight setback on Wall Street.

AT VANCOUVER volume continued heavy in Western Mines, Vancouver Island copper prospect, which traded 771,000 shares Friday and 104,000 Monday, rising from 28 to 43 1/2 cents. About 40,000 shares traded this morning in the 41-43 cent range. Friday Mines opened at 39-40 and sold off in moderate volume to 36. Prices were mixed during the morning. Fort St. John moved at $2; Bethlehem Copper traded at $1.35; Granduc was between $3.15 and $3.25; Western Mines sold at 41-42; Massey Ferguson sold at $10; Growers Wine at $10.

With key stocks hit by fractional losses and gains, the New York market finished down.

AT TORONTO the lethargic base metals list was sparked by a resurgent gold list. McIntyre Porcupine, Campbell Red Lake, Kerr-Addison and Dome all gained appreciably while Noranda, Labrador and Quenont all lost ground.

Trading in western oils was weak with Calgary and Edmonton, Dome Petroleum, Great Plains and Home B all off a few cents.

AT NEW YORK among Canadian issues, Dome Mines gained 1/2 while McIntyre Porcupine was up 1/2. Walker Gooderham lost 1 and International Nickel and Hudson Bay mining each dropped 1/2.

Prices were mixed on the American exchange. Shawinigan was up 1/2 and Fargo Oil rose 1/16. Canadian Marconi was down 1/2.

AT MONTREAL, papers slumping badly for the second straight day, continued to highlight an otherwise mixed market. Base metals also declined but banks edged higher.

AT LONDON the demand for gilt-edged securities continued unabated today on the stock market and dated stocks showed gains extending to 1/2. Elsewhere dull conditions prevailed.

Losses in the industrial market.

TODAY'S GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP) — Flax prices showed a sharp drop of six to eight cents at the close of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today, a result of selling orders from overseas and Canadian and United States commission-house sales.

Export buying was in evidence in the flax market.

The rye market was fairly active, with prices down about three cents.

Prices were easier in the oats and barley fields.

Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat: Poland, 851,000 bushels; United Kingdom, 801,000; China, 582,000, and Japan, 486,000.

Lakehead prices for Class Two IWA and domestic wheat all were unchanged from Monday.

Viewing Hours Extended for Captivating Photo Salon

Prints from all over the world are featured in the 18th annual Victoria International Salon of Photography currently housed in Art Gallery of Greater Victoria. Above are just three of the 315 exhibits. The one at left, "Cement Flooring," won Tan Boon-Yean of Singapore the Vancouver Island Chapter Medal Award. Doleful doggy in the centre was captured by B. Kendrick Miller of San Francisco. With an eye on that puddle, the composition is billed as "Not Me." At right is an eagle-eye view of Fifth Avenue, by F. Mansfield Young of Boston, Mass. The salon opened on Oct. 15 and was due to close at the end of this week but the viewing hours have been extended. In addition to regular daytime hours (11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on weekdays) the gallery will be open from 7.30 p.m. to 9.30 p.m. Thursday and Friday and on Sunday from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. and from 7.30 p.m. to 9.30 p.m. The annual event is sponsored by Victoria Camera Club. To select the 315 prints on display two jury panels spent many hours sifting through a total of 2,100 prints and slides submitted by more than 100 photographers from places as far apart as Hong Kong, New Jersey and Vienna. Also on display in the Art Gallery at present is an exhibition of landscape and animal painting by Carl Rungius, considered by many to be the leading North American in this particular field.

Mystic's Advice: 'Get Lost' In Deep Meditation

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Most of us are afraid of being alone with ourselves. We are afraid of solitude. That, it seemed to me, was the message of Maharishi Mahesh Yogi, the Eastern mystic who came to Victoria Monday to preach his gospel of "deep meditation."

What is deep meditation? I tried to discover the answer in a two-hour interview with this happy little man who comes from the Valley of the Saints—high in the mountains of Himalaya.

All I learned was that you have to lose yourself in thinking about your fellow beings. You have to love everything (if that is possible) and throw out all thoughts of revenge, retaliation or self-justification. "In the Valley of the Saints," he said, "no one matters. We are all part of one central idea—the happiness of everything that lives, everything that has consciousness. You cannot exclude any living thing that has consciousness."

For that reason, perhaps, the Maharishi is a vegetarian. He could not eat anything that had been killed. He loves bird, animal and beast.

Understandable

The Maharishi said it was very understandable that men and women who had been disappointed or frustrated should enjoy drinking alcohol.

"Many of these," he said, "are people of great sympathy—but their sympathy has been so misunderstood that they retreat from it and take what is really a kind of drug to make them feel happier."

How does drink affect the soul?

The Maharishi believes it may enlarge the imagination, yet have a "blunting" effect on the mind, so that it becomes "cloudy" and not so analytical as it should be. Drink and drugs, he says, produce the effect that could come from deep meditation—except that they leave you "depressed" afterwards.

No After-Effects

"There are no after-effects from meditation," he declared. "The strength continues."

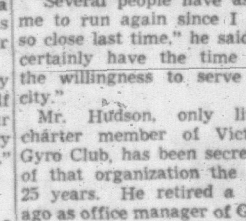

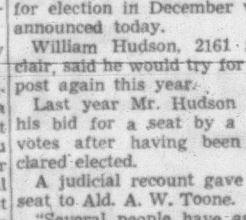

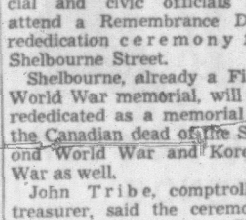

Does the Maharishi pray to any particular Divinity? "No—because it is sentimental. If you think of a particular figure like Christ or Buddha or Mahomet you are thinking of a particular person. All are wonderful in their way—but you must think of them as part of a great cosmic consciousness—something that is greater than any person could be."

"What you must really pray to is your deepest self—the deepest depths of your conscience, which is really the motive behind all living."

Vital Message
The Maharishi is on a world tour, because he believes his message is essential to survival of the world as we know it.

The Maharishi (meaning teacher) addressed a meeting of some 130 Victorians in the Louise Room of the Empress Hotel Monday night.

The Maharishi said he hopes to form a group in Victoria. He says the Spiritual Regeneration Movement of Canada already has branches in Vancouver and Chilliwack.

New Office Block Planned In City by Vancouver Firm

Low-Interest Loan Fund Mayors' Aim

Mayor Percy Scurrell today said Canada civic government leaders will make a determined effort to persuade the federal government to establish a low-interest loan fund for municipal borrowing.

Mayor Scurrell, who will lead the delegation early next month as president of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, said low-interest loans are "a vital need for our urban communities."

BIG IMPACT
"Low-interest loans would have a tremendous impact on our growing urban centres which must borrow huge sums to finance the ever-continuing expansion of roads, waterworks, sewer systems and treatment plants," he said.

"The drift to the cities is continuing—eventually 80 per cent of Canada's population will be urban—and low-interest loans are absolutely essential to help us meet the almost explosive growth we are experiencing," he said.

Mayor Scurrell said the organization will not seek any specified amount for allocation to the fund or for income tax exemption on municipal bond coupons as prevails in the United States.

ACCEPT PRINCIPLE

"At the moment, we just want to convince Ottawa to accept the principle of assisting the municipalities by borrowing the money at the prevailing low interest available to the federal government for loans to municipalities at fractionally higher rates to cover costs of administration."

He said "eventually" CFMM hopes the government would use present income tax revenue from municipal bond coupons for bolstering such a fund so that interest rates could be driven down to 2½ or 3 per cent for municipalities.

Choice Property Bought At Douglas, Fort Streets

A Vancouver firm has purchased property at Douglas and Fort for construction of a new office block, it was learned today.

According to reports circulating among downtown businessmen, the three-storey structure would be kitty-corner from the new gold-plated Canada Permanent Mortgage Company.

Robert Bentall, vice-president of Dominion Construction Co. Ltd., said only "no comment" when telephoned in Vancouver regarding the reports. The big mainland firm developed and constructed the recently opened Town and Country Shopping Plaza on Douglas and has tried to develop several other projects here.

Property involved stretches 100 feet along Fort Street and 90 feet along Douglas. It includes Cunningham Drugs, McEwen's Restaurant and Rowe's Fish and Poultry Market.

It is believed that Dominion Construction would build the structure on a lease-purchase arrangement for a financial institution, either a trust company or a bank.

In answer to a previous question: The term "DX" in short-wave radio terminology does not mean "to look for" as stated in this column. The letters stand for "distance"—the "X" replacing the letters following the initial "D." The term might be used with reference to distant radio signals.

The authority on the question confused this term with "CQ" which means "to search for."

Ex-Businessman To Try Again For Council Seat

First candidate for one of the four aldermanic posts up for election in December was announced today.

William Hudson, 2161 Sinclair, said he would try for the post again this year.

Last year Mr. Hudson lost his bid for a seat by a few votes after having been declared elected.

A judicial recount gave the seat to Ald. A. W. Toone.

"Several people have asked me to run again since I was so close last time," he said. "I certainly have the time and the willingness to serve the city."

Mr. Hudson, only living charter member of Victoria Gyro Club, has been secretary of that organization the past 25 years. He retired a year ago as office manager of Great West Life Assurance Company.

ANAEMIA TESTS SCHEDULED FOR HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

Some 840 students in three local high schools will undergo blood tests this week in a national survey on anaemia.

Parental consent was obtained from each student. Results of the survey will be co-related with a nationwide search by the federal department for data on the incidence of iron deficiency.

The surveys were launched after a September meeting of the Canadian Council on Nutrition which indicated that anaemia—despite this nation's high standard of living—may be Canada's biggest nutritional problem.

FIFTH FERRY
HINTED
BY BENNETT

Three important new developments in local shipbuilding were announced by Premier W. A. C. Bennett and VMD president Harold Husband at the launching of Mv. City of Victoria this afternoon:

(1) Likelihood of a fifth ferry for the Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen service was indicated by the Premier, who quipped that "the government couldn't go on building ships indefinitely, but would probably require a fifth vessel as an auxiliary to the four required for the hourly service of 1962."

(2) VMD is pointing towards bids on "missile and rocket skirts, components and nose cones, in the most esoteric of metals, under the Canada-U.S. Defence Sharing program," president Husband announced. Acquisition of a 3,000-ton press, built by Krupp in Germany, had made this possible and all that was needed now was "to acquire the technology."

(3) VMD had established a "first in Canada" with a contract, now in manufacture, to design and supply main condensers for the most modern type of U.S. Navy Missile Firing Ship, being built at Bremerton Navy Yard.

"This is recognition," said Mr. Husband, "after exhaustive survey by the U.S. Navy and the U.S. Bureau of Ships, of VMD's capabilities."

Skid-Row Millionaire Nabbed
With Six Drug-Addict Derelicts

NEW YORK (AP)—A millionaire who used his fortune to help derelicts faced arraignment in felony court today on charges that he fed and housed six drug addicts in his Harlem shelter.

John S. Cram, 51, a former student at Princeton and Oxford Universities, was arrested in a raid on the shelter Monday and taken into custody along with six derelicts who were charged with possession of narcotics.

A friend said that from his college days Cram has been deeply concerned with poverty and has devoted his time and money to relieving the poor.

Cram told police he had been feeding and sheltering vagrants for about five years. At first, he handed out money, but he found that many of the recipients used it to get drunk. So he hit on the idea of the shelter.

JOHN S. CRAM
... he meant well.

He said he paid $200 a month rent and spent about $100 a day to care for the vagrants.

Police quoted Cram as saying he was aware some of the men used narcotics but he did not know it was against the law to shelter an addict.

Cram was charged with having permitted his premises to be used for the congregation of narcotics addicts and with possession of narcotics paraphernalia.

As he was led to a cell, Cram told a policeman: "Nobody looks out for drug addicts. There will be nobody to feed them tonight."

SHOCK, HORROR

LONDON (CP)—Protests and demonstrations spread throughout the non-Communist world today against Soviet detonation of a giant hydrogen bomb.

RUSSIA GETS
'BACKFIRE' OF FALLOUT

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union is getting a backfire of radioactive fallout today from its mammoth nuclear explosion, U.S. weather bureau scientists reported.

They said the fallout was carried on winds blowing south to southeast over Russia.

The massive blast, triggered Monday in the atmosphere over the Novaya Zemlya region in the Arctic, may have been the 50-megaton explosion that Soviet Premier Khrushchev announced the Russians would test. But the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission said it doubts that the detonation was that big.

There has been no word from Russia on the explosion.

RUSSIA GETS FALLOUT

Robert List, chief of the U.S. weather bureau's atmospheric radioactivity project, said Russia "would get more of the immediate fallout" from the explosion than other areas.

Since it was likely the bomb was fired high in the atmosphere, List said only a small fraction of the fallout would sift down immediately.

The greater portion of it would be sucked into the stratosphere and would come down perhaps next spring, he said.

But considering the size of blast, said List, the amount of radioactive debris blowing over Russia would be appreciable.

Nobel prize-winning chemist Dr. Harold C. Urey said in a New York television interview that the fallout will be "unpleasant but not critical—not at all." He did not elaborate.

The Soviet Union Monday also fired an underwater nuclear blast of low yield about two hours after the big explosion in the atmosphere.

VANCOUVER—Closing sales: NPM 1,000 at 24, Bethlehem Copper 400 at $1.41, Western Mines 4,500 at .42, Placer Development 300 at $23.75, McMillan-Bloedel 50 at $17.75, Giant Mascot 1,600 at $8, Indian Mines 1,000 at 8½c, Imperial Breweries 100 at $4.80, Canam 500 at 12.

Government leaders, scientists and newspapers, especially in Western Europe and Japan, expressed shock and horror at the 30-to-50-megaton blast set off in the Arctic Monday.

India's Prime Minister Nehru said he was "deeply pained and shocked."

The Russian people themselves were unaware of the blast, not reported either by the Soviet government or press.

In Italy, tens of thousands of high school and university students marched out of classes and paraded through streets in a dozen cities in protest against the Soviet blast. In Manila, more than 7,500 Filipino college students were reported to have signed a petition urging the Soviet Union to halt further tests.

But British Defence Minister Harold Watkinson said preliminary evidence from the huge Soviet blast and its accompanying smaller one "suggests a yield of the order of 30 megatons."

STILL FEEL SHOCK

In Australia, however, officials of the Commonwealth Scientific Industrial Research Organization said its measurements indicated the Russian explosion was in the 50-megaton region. They said shock waves from the explosion—8,500 miles away—were still being registered today.

Japanese were alarmed by a warning from experts there that highly radioactive rain and dust from the blast would reach their shores around Friday.

The Tokyo government called a conference of scientists to decide whether the expected levels of radiation

Announcement
Thursday SeenBy FRANK RUTTER
(Times Legislative Reporter)

Announcement of a cut in B.C. Electric light bills is expected Thursday or Friday.

It could forestall a rebellion in the ranks of the Social Credit Party at a convention this weekend.

Premier Bennett will make a speech about the B.C. Electric Thursday night at a pre-convention meeting of the Social Credit League Women's Auxiliary in Vancouver.

Friday morning he will address the opening session of the convention.

A spokesman from the premier's office here confirmed today that the B.C. Electric will be the topic of the Thursday speech, but he would not say if it referred specifically to rates.

However, strong reports that the cut is imminent were not denied.

STUDY GOING ON

Amount of the reduction and when it would go into effect will probably not be announced immediately, as B.C. Electric still has studies under way on general economies under public ownership.

But the CCF contends that the government is saving as much as $28,000,000 by its Aug. 1 takeover of the giant utility through corporation tax immunity.

Greater Victoria next year will be served by B.C. Power Commission, which takes over B.C. Electric operations here Jan. 1.

This move is expected to mean a cut in local rates, in line with lower light bills in other areas served by B.C. Hydro. For example Nanaimo rates are about 5 per cent below the B.C. Electric rates here.

FOUR REASONS

The premier has at least four good reasons for announcing a general rate reduction at this time:

Closest to home is the growing prospect of a rebellion at the Socred convention, heightened today by protests about the B.C. Electric takeover from legislative Speaker Hugh Shantz, M.L.A. for North Okanagan.

Then there is the chance to steal thunder from the founding convention of the New Democratic Party, which also opens in Vancouver Friday.

Mr. Bennett also may feel it is time to put an end to widespread signs of growing public discontent at the manner in which he achieved the B.C. Electric takeover.

Fourthly, to take advantage

Chou Snubs
Russians—
Flies Home

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Soviet leaders were faced today with a new snub from Communist China following the sudden departure for home of Chinese Premier Chou En-lai.

Observers saw Chou's abrupt departure from the Soviet party congress here as a sign of a worsening quarrel between the two countries over bitter Russian attacks on tiny Albania for following "Stalinist" policies.

Chou rebuked the Soviet leaders last week for bringing their quarrel with Albania into the open and told them that disputes between Communist countries should be settled in private.

Despite the rebuke and the new snub Monday, Chou was seen off at the airport Monday night by Premier Khrushchev and other top Soviet officials.

No reason was given for his sudden departure. Chou arrived back in Peking this morning and was greeted at the airport by Communist party chief Mao Tse-tung and by the Chinese head of state, Liu Shao-chi.

TENSION HIGH

Tear-Gas
Battle
In Berlin

BERLIN (Reuters)

Tension increased along the border between East and West Berlin today following repeated bursts of gunfire during the night and a tear-gas battle between Communist and West Berlin police.

Repeated shooting was heard during the night in the border areas, particularly those between the French sector and East Berlin.

West Berlin police, newly armed with automatic weapons and tear-gas grenades, used the grenades for the first time Monday night when the East Germans hurled five tear gas bombs at a West Berlin loudspeaker truck, smashing its windshield.

The West Berlin police hurled six tear gas grenades at the Communists.

The clash came as the Communist East German government announced new restrictions on the border to clinch its authority over all civilian traffic between East and West Berlin.

MUST SHOW PASSES

The restrictions require all foreigners entering East Berlin in civilian clothes to show passes, proving their identity.

Despite the announcement Western officials were allowed to drive into East Berlin Monday without any special identification check.

Britain today rejected the right claimed by East Germany to inspect the papers of Western officials.

The new East German move to curtail Western Allied rights in Berlin was announced after an incident at an East Berlin checkpoint involving a United States official, E. Allan Lightner Jr.

A foreign office spokesman told reporters "members of the military government in Berlin have full rights of freedom of access to all Berlin. No decree which might be made by the East German authorities can alter this in any way."

The spokesman said Western Allied personnel moving into East Berlin always do so in vehicles which carry number plates to identify them as officials. He suggested this should be sufficient identification for East German authorities.

Meanwhile, West Berlin police said today that East German police were seen to fire at and injure a man trying to flee to West Berlin Monday night. He was then taken away by the East Germans.

About 30 minutes later there was rapid sub-machine gun fire in the same area but out of sight of West Berlin police.
